

Americans Disillusioned about Viet Liberation Front

By HARRISON E. SALISBURY
(c) New York Times News Service

HANOI, North Vietnam—The aims, aspirations and operations of the National Liberation Front are viewed by its leadership in terms sharply different from the picture held by many Americans.

This contrast in view was the highlight of an interview granted by a member of the central committee of the liberation front, the political arm of the Viet Cong.

(The Viet Cong are the Communist-led South Vietnamese force fighting against the Saigon regime and its allies, principally the United States.)

The picture of the front and its role in Vietnam was presented by Nguyen Van Tien, a former Saigon professor, a member of the resistance movement since 1945, a member of the front's central committee and its permanent representative in Hanoi.

Tien is a distinguished-looking, gray-haired man of quiet manner who has a considerable grasp of English. His office is housed in a newly refurbished villa close to the foreign ministry that once was the U.S. mission's headquarters in Hanoi.

As described by Tien, the front is an independent entity. It now has 15 offices in Communist capitals, and several others such as that in Algeria.

His own task in Hanoi is not precisely a diplomatic post but "a special form not seen anywhere in the world," he said. But on all questions relating to the South, he added, his people and the North Vietnamese conduct discussions on the same footing.

"The North cannot speak for the South," he said, "Anyone who has to discuss South Vietnam must speak with the front."

If North Vietnam has some question concerning the South, he said, its representatives have to talk the matter over with him.

He was asked whether all aid to his cause had to go to North Vietnam, and whether it was then funneled to the South. Not at all, he responded, explaining that if aid is for the South it has to be arranged directly with the front. There has to be clear specification of what is destined for the North and what for the South, he said.

He emphasized that North and South were one people and one nation and engaged in a common struggle and said that this was why each had the right to demand aid from the other.

Asked who ran the armed struggle in the South—the North, as is presumed abroad, or the South—he replied: "The direction of the struggle is run by the South, not the North."

Ann Marie Meets Press At Hospital

Little Miss Ann Marie Wood, Miss New Year of 1967 in Warren County, with her mother, Mrs. Frances Mary Wood, made her photographic debut yesterday at Warren General Hospital where she was born at 8:42 p.m. Tuesday, January 3, 1967.

The young lady tipped the scales at six pounds, four ounces and is 20 inches long.

While not yet old enough to appreciate the fact that she is the recipient of a host of gifts offered by Warren's generous merchants, Ann Marie's mother and her father, John Wood, are looking forward to presenting certificates to claim the following items:

Tiny Town, Jumping Jacks baby shoes; Gaughn's, one case of baby formula; Warren Drug Store, $10 gift certificate; Infant Shop, $10 gift certificate; Murphy's, quilt blanket; Seasted Pharmacy, Evenflo food warmer.

Waxman's Furniture, Baby Lounger; Siebert Jewellers, silver fork and spoon; Grant's, $10 credit book; Montgomery Ward, Comfortline folding chair; Cowdick's, Hancraft baby bottle sterilizer; Brown's Boot Shop, Classmate shoes and socks to match; Crown Drug, six boxes of Pampers; Millers, 5 cents to $1, lovely baby bunting.

Times-Mirror and Observer, $25 savings bond; Walt's Family Shoe Store, Youngsville, baby shoes; Walker Creamery Products, one-dozen baby bottles; Northwest Savings & Loan, $10 in baby's first savings account; Darling's, Towle sterling feeding spoon.

Warren County Dairy, $10 in merchandise; Jamesway, complete layette; James Jewellers, two piece silver feeding set; Kresge's, four piece legging set; C. Beckley, bottle warmer; Levinson's, Carter's gift set and Borg Studio, one 8 by 10 photo.

Youngville Ceremony On Sunday

Mayor Ernest McGraw will crown the king and present a scepter to the queen as the climax to the Twelfth Night ceremonies to be conducted Sunday afternoon by the Girl Scouts of the Brokenstraw Neighborhood. More than 250 Scouts and twenty-eight leaders representing 14 troops from Youngville, Pittsfield, Irvine and Grand Valley will participate in the Youngville revival of the ancient observance of the feast of Epiphany. The program has not been held for three years.

The girls will assemble at Youngville High School cafeteria at 3:30 p.m. and will be served a snack of cup cakes and punch. Tokens baked in the cup cakes will denote the positions on the court for the lucky finders.

Mrs. Victor Schnell, event chairman, advised that the court will form at the school and the entire procession will march to Island Park singing Christmas carols enroute. The members of the court will be appropriately garbed for the positions they represent.

The ceremonies at Island Park will include singing of additional carols to officially close the 1966 Christmas season, the recognition of the royal couple by Mayor McGraw, and burning of the Christmas greens by members of the Youngville Volunteer Fire Department.

Residents of the community may leave their Christmas trees at the curb from where they will be transported to Island Park by borough employees. Residents from the area may personally tote their trees to the burning spot to add to the splendor of the evening.

Twelfth Night, the eve of the Feast of Epiphany, which traditionally occurs Jan. 6, twelve days after Christmas, is primarily a feast honoring the Three Wise Men who came to worship the Christ child.

FOR GREAT SOCIETY

Mansfield Predicts LBJ Request Limit

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana predicted yesterday that President Johnson will limit his requests to the new Congress largely to improvements and modifications of existing "Great Society" programs.

Mansfield, who conferred with Johnson by telephone this week, said in an interview he does not look for the President to make any sweeping new proposals in a State of the Union message expected to be delivered personally before Jan. 17.

"I expect the new session of Congress to be devoted primarily to the correction, modification and amendment of the laws the last Congress passed," Mansfield said. "I don't think there will be any sweeping new presidential proposals. 'We should exercise oversight over the programs which have already been passed. We should assume the degree of responsibility that is inherently ours to see that the laws we have passed are carried out efficiently."

Mansfield predicted that Johnson will carry out his announced intention of trimming back domestic expenditures by $3.5 billion in the current fiscal year ending next June 30. He said Congress should help.

He said he expects Johnson to request $10 billion in immediate supplementary appropriations to meet Vietnam war costs. He said Johnson is giving "earnest consideration" to the question of a possible tax increase, but has made no decision.

Other Senate sources predicted Johnson will ask the new Congress for $12 billion to $15 billion in extra Vietnam war funds.

Jet Misses Runaway Missile Before Crossing Cuban Tip

By BOB HORTON
WASHINGTON (AP) — A supersonic jet fighter chased a runaway Air Force missile for 90 miles over the Gulf of Mexico yesterday in a vain attempt to shoot it down before it passed over Cuba.

A Pentagon spokesman said the F4 Phantom jet hit the unarmed Mace missile-modified as a target drone — with cannon fire.

But the 44-foot, 18,000-pound missile continued southward on an errant course which carried it over the extreme western tip of Cuba and apparently to a harmless impact in the ocean 100 miles south of the island country.

The pursuing jet also fired two air-to-air missiles being tested by the Air Force in an unsuccessful attempt to bring down the errant craft, serving as a robot plane for target practice.

The Pentagon said the Mace missile was unarmed, meaning it carried neither a nuclear nor conventional warhead. It contained a small explosive charge designed for self-destruction on signal in case something went wrong.

However, officials at Eglin Air Force Base, Fla., from where the missile had been launched yesterday morning, were unable to set off the destruct mechanism.

Exactly where the missile came down was a matter of mystery Wednesday night, and a Pentagon spokesman said the impact site might never be known for sure.

Defense officials said the State Department had asked the Swiss Embassy in Havana to inform Fidel Castro's government in Cuba that the 650-mile-an-hour missile accidentally had crossed part of the island.

The Pentagon disclosed the errant missile flight at 11:21 a.m., precisely the moment the

North Vietnam Asked To Clarify Position; Salisbury Story Cited

By HEDRICK SMITH
(c) N. Y. Times News Service

WASHINGTON — The United States, in effect, invited North Vietnam yesterday to clarify through diplomatic or other channels whether it has softened its position on Vietnam peace talks.

Washington's interest arose from a report by the New York Times yesterday quoting the North Vietnamese premier, Pham Van Dong, as having asserted that Hanoi's four-point peace program did not constitute "conditions" for peace talks, but were rather a "basis for settlement of the Vietnam problem."

The preliminary assessment of some U.S. officials Tuesday night was that the premier's remarks represented a possibly significant change by Hanoi. Previously the administration felt that Hanoi set its four points as conditions for peace talks. Secretary of State Dean Rusk said as much in testimony before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee Feb. 18.

But high administration sources, greatly interested in the Times dispatch from Hanoi, indicated yesterday they were not sure that Dong's statements signaled a change and suggested they would welcome a further sign from Hanoi.

They said they had no independent information, from diplomatic intermediaries or other sources, that would indicate that Hanoi was shifting its stand significantly.

When newsmen questioned Robert J. McCloskey, the State Department spokesman, about this issue yesterday, he replied:

"Whether or not there has been any change in the position of North Vietnam remains to be seen. If there is, we would welcome it. There are ways in which Hanoi could clarify its position."

His statement was understood to have had the endorsement of Rusk and the White House. The last sentence was interpreted as an indirect but open invitation by the administration to Hanoi to clear up the uncertainty over its terms for peace talks by communicating with Washington through other channels. Officials acknowledged this interpretation as valid.

But they noted that even if Hanoi had shifted its stand on the four points, other important obstacles to peace talks remain. These include the method of representing the Viet Cong at peace negotiations and how Hanoi would satisfy Washington's insistence that Hanoi scale down its side of the fighting in return for a halt to American bombing of North Vietnam.

The White House press secretary, Bill D. Moyers, said that the U.S. still had no "hard information" to show that an end to U.S. bombing would bring a reciprocal move toward peace by Hanoi.

British Proposal Officially Rejected

By CHARLES MOHR
(c) N.Y. Times News Service

HONG KONG — North Vietnam's foreign ministry yesterday officially rejected the British proposal for a Vietnam peace conference and described the proposal as "an impermissible, vicious act."

The rejection was made in terms that strongly suggested that North Vietnam is at present uninterested in negotiation and would not consent to talk until the United States had first agreed to withdraw from South Vietnam.

The U.S. and South Vietnam had agreed to British Foreign Secretary George Brown's proposal, made last Friday, that they meet with North Vietnam to discuss ways to end the fighting.

A statement yesterday by the North Vietnamese foreign ministry spokesman objected that Brown had not included the political arm of the Viet Cong guerrillas, the South Vietnamese nese national front for liberation, in his invitation.

Other passages in the statement, however, indicated that even if the front had been included, North Vietnam would have refused to attend unless the U.S. had agreed to withdraw from the South and unconditionally end the bombing of North Vietnam.

Tuesday the North Vietnamese press and radio had strongly attacked the Brown proposal as a "foul" act. Both the British foreign office and the U.S. State Department, however, had expressed some hope that this was not an "official" expression of Hanoi's opinion.

The statement of the Hanoi foreign ministry said that Brown's proposal was "an act full of malicious intention aimed at serving the dark designs of the U.S. aggressors."

It said the British plan had "rehashed the shopworn tune of 'unconditional discussions' of the Johnson administration."

Viet Cong Releases Three Prisoners: Two Americans

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
SAIGON — Two American civilian construction workers and a Filipino were released by the Viet Cong yesterday after more than six months in captivity.

The three, described as "in bad physical condition," were taken to a United States military compound at Xuanloc, 38 miles northeast of Saigon, for the night. They are to be treated at an American military hospital this morning, according to informed sources.

A U.S. spokesman identified the Americans as Thomas R. Scales, 44, of Matamoros, Pa. and Robert W. Monahan, 41, of Brooklyn. The Viet Cong announced their intention to release the two Americans in a broadcast on their clandestine radio Tuesday night.

The radio said the Americans had appealed for leniency to the National Liberation Front, political arm of the Viet Cong, and as a new year's gesture they would be freed.

The U.S. spokesman said that South Vietnamese militiamen picked up the men and the woman together yesterday afternoon near Xuanloc.

Details of exactly how and where the three were located were sketchy, but they were

Planner's Pay Hike Questioned

By STEVE CULLINANE

Controversy has arisen over a $1,000 pay raise for County Planner Robert R. Peterson, approved yesterday three-to-one by the county salary board.

The dissenting vote was cast by County Commissioner Blain M. Mead.

Mead said last night, "A thousand dollars is too much of an increase, that's all." He said, "The office isn't worth that kind of money."

Peterson has been receiving a salary of $8,000 a year. Supporting the payhike, Commissioner D.H. Lay said last night, "Mr. Peterson is probably the lowest-paid planner in Pennsylvania for counties of comparable size."

Explaining his opposition to the pay increase, Mead said, "Employees with more responsibility than Mr. Peterson are making less than him." In answer to a question about the functions of Peterson's office, Mead said, "Nobody knows what he's doing. He doesn't report what he does. We used to have a report once a month from the planner's office, but not any more."

In reply to Mead's statement, Lay said, "If Mr. Mead were putting in full time as county commissioner, he'd be better informed on what his staff is doing." He said, "Bob Peterson has been reporting all the time."

Lay praised Peterson, saying "I consider him the hardest working person in the courthouse. He is very dedicated." Lay said, "I don't know anything about getting reports once a month. The planning commission meets once a month and the county commissioners are invited to attend."

Commenting on Mead's opposition to the pay hike, Lay said, "I don't think Mr. Mead has any room to criticize a man working seven days a week when he's getting $9,000 and has a degree, when Mr. Mead himself is getting $8,500 and has in the past four months, worked 46 hours in June, 32 hours in July, 29 hours in November, and 47 hours in December."

Lay said Mead was getting "$21 per hour for the time he was at the courthouse during November."

Mead said, in reply to Lay's tabulation, "Probably his wife figured it out for him."

Mead noted that Peterson does have a bachelor's degree, but said he doesn't have a master's degree. Lay said Peterson would be eligible for more than $10,000 a year if he did have a master's degree.

Mead said that $1,000 a year is a large increase, compared to the $200 to $300 other county employees have, he said, been receiving.

Lay said Mead has in the past opposed the functions of the county's planner's office. Lay said, "Less than a year ago, Mead moved that the whole planning commission be fired. Needless to say, no one seconded the motion."

Mead indicated that he would have more to say in reply to Lay.

"The worst is yet to come," said Mead. "He'll get it with both barrels when I'm ready."

Mead said about the pay raise controversy, "I'm hoping May 16 (the Republican primary) will settle it."

Liberation Front Seeks to End All Alignments

Since all questions on the South are settled by the front, Tien said, it naturally must be represented at the conference table when peace talks begin.

What about reunification? The front and the North would have to discuss that on the basis of equality, he insisted, and the front would then decide all matters for the South as far as reunification is concerned.

He said southern thinking was that reunification could occur only step by step. The first step would be to renew trade, mail and travel between North and South. Because of the division of the country, many people have not seen their relatives for 10 years, Tien remarked.

As to what steps would be taken after that or what time period might be involved, he offered no specifics but conveyed the impression that there would be no hurry and that there were many complicated questions to be resolved.

Some of these may arise from radical differences between the program of the front and the policies of North Vietnam.

The front has a five-point program calling for national independence, democratic freedom, peace, neutrality and reunification. The neutrality plank envisages a government generally aligned with neutralist Asian states such as Cambodia, Laos and Burma. In contrast, North Vietnam is a firm member of the Communist bloc.

The front says it wants an end to all alignments to any bloc or system, whether American or Communist.

How the neutrality question might be worked out has not been indicated.

Another point of some divergence lies in the political complexion of the front's central committee, which includes, according to Tien, not only Communists but bourgeois intellectuals and members of religious sects and other parties. There were differences among them as to the type of government that should be set up after the way, he said, some believing it should follow the socialist path and some the Communist, with the most powerful group standing firm for neutrality.

Tien's picture of the liberation front differed sharply from that held by many in the United States—that it is an organization created and directed by and subservient to the Hanoi regime. Such ideas, he contended, are a serious miscalculation.

He said the United States should recognize the leading role of the front in the South both now and in the future, once peace is restored.

Bradford Art Collector Opens Exhibit at Hartford Gallery

NEW YORK (AP) — A Bradford, Pa., private art collection described by museum directors as "truly distinguished" and "opulent and stimulating" has gone on display at Huntington Hartford's Gallery of Modern Art.

The collection of nearly 300 paintings, sculptures and drawings is from more than 1,000 works of art collected over a 45 year period by Dr. T. Edward Hanley, of Bradford.

The exhibit was organized by Margaret Potter, curator and acting director of the Hartford Gallery, which also houses the personal collection of Hartford, multi-millionaire A. and P. heir; and Evan Turner, director of the Philadelphia Museum of Art.

It is the first large-scale showing of the Hanley collection, although the Philadelphia Museum exhibited drawings from the collection in 1957 and small exhibits have been shown at the Wildenstein Gallery in New York, Fogg Art Museum at Harvard University, and Albright Gallery, Buffalo, N.Y.

Miss Potter describes the collection as "a truly distinguished collection, distinguished in a way that could not be duplicated with anything less than the serious and abiding passion which formed it over the past 45 years."

"It is the story," she added, "of a major accomplishment in which stature was achieved as a by-product of taste and love rather than as a goal in itself."

Turner described Dr. Hanley and his wife, who has assisted him in the acquisition of art during their 18-year marriage, as "extraordinary collectors with perception and imagination" and their art works, he said, are "as appealing as they are absorbing."

A large segment of the collection consists of French 19th and 20th Century paintings and includes works by Cezanne, Corot, Courbet, Degas,

District Pair End Crime Wave At Punxsutawney

An 18-year-old from Titusville and a Pleasantville juvenile were detained yesterday by Punxsutawney police.

Mike Ender, 18, of RD 4 Titusville and a 17-year-old reportedly stole a car early yesterday morning from Titusville and journeyed to Tionesta where they burglarized Alpmeyer clothing store.

Grabbing $200 worth of merchandise from the store, they next hit Punxsutawney where they were apprehended by city police.

Trooper Sherman Muse of Tionesta Substation returned the pair to Tionesta where they were arraigned before a local justice of the peace on a burglary charge.

Finally the two boys, were motored to Titusville where they await a charge of larceny of a motor vehicle.

Stubborn Blaze Damages House At Greenhurst

GREENHURST, N.Y.—Volunteer fire fighters from Fluvanna, Bemus Point and Ellettsville battled a stubborn blaze at the house of Mrs. Theda Van Marter for nearly four hours yesterday afternoon.

The blaze virtually destroyed the two-story frame dwelling as flames whipped through the second floor of the structure, destroying the area while the first floor suffered a large amount of water damage as the firemen attempted to squelch the blaze.

According to Fluvanna Fire Chief Kenneth Conover, there was no immediate estimate of the amount of damage done. The chief indicated he could not as yet pinpoint the cause.

Democrats Present Own Constitution Solution

By PAUL ZDINAK

HARRISBURG (AP) — Controversy over a proposed constitutional convention continued in the Senate yesterday as minority Democrats introduced a bill outlining their version of such an assembly.

Differing sharply from the Republican version, the Democrats would have the legislature call the convention into being instead of leaving this decision up to the voters.

Across the rotunda, House Majority Leader Lee A. Donaldson Jr. introduced a bill to abolish the State Milk Control Commission and eliminate milk price fixing in the commonwealth.

This is the seventh time Donaldson, R-Allegheny, has introduced such legislation; each previous attempt has been unsuccessful. Donaldson said his bill does not have the endorsement of Gov.-elect Raymond P. Shafer.

Shafer who takes office Jan. 17, has urged replacing the commission with a fair price stabilization board.

The 1967 legislature convened Tuesday. Both chambers recessed yesterday and will return Inauguration Week, the Senate coming back Jan. 16 and the House a day later.

In another development on the constitutional amendment scene the Republican-controlled Senate moved eight proposed constitutional amendments into position for a final Senate vote.

These eight proposals, making their second journey through the legislature, have bipartisan backing and have not generated nearly the controversy stirred by the constitutional convention idea.

If passed by this legislature, these measures then would go to the people for a vote.

Some of the more important of the bills would permit a governor to succeed himself, provide lower voting residency requirements, and establish a $500 million conservation fund.

Ceremony

In the fourth century, Pope Julius I wrote concerning the importance of observing the day as a festival since it marked the coming of the Magi, but it was not observed as a separate feast until 813 A.D. In the middle ages, the day was celebrated with great religious solemnity with a play within the church called "The Feast of the Star."

The day became almost as popular as a festival as Christmas, and even today many people observe it rather than Christmas.

Shakespeare wrote of Twelfth Night and the kings and queens of England celebrated it with great pomp and circumstance. The secular celebration was a gay one in old England. One of the customs was to burn

Christmas greens, a custom which was brought to this country in 1930 and has been popular locally since 1940.

Release

taken to the South Vietnamese Tenth Infantry Division headquarters at Xuanloc then transferred to American authorities.

Sources said that despite their poor health, the captives had been able "to take nourishment."

The two men disappeared on May 7, 1966. They had set out in a jeep driving from Saigon to the city of Vungtau, 40 miles away on the coast of the South China Sea, and are believed to have been captured enroute.

The Viet Cong are believed to be holding captive at least 12 other civilians, including two U.S. aid mission employees.

Senate Bill Introduced To Limit Assembly Session

HARRISBURG (AP) — Sen. John H. Ware, R-Chester, introduced a bill in the Senate yesterday that would require the legislature to quit by the end of June.

Ware also submitted a companion measure which would extend the terms of state senators from four to six years.

Both measures are in the form of constitutional amendments, which means that they would have to be approved by the 1969 legislature before they could go to the people for a vote.

In effect, Ware's proposal would limit a session of the general assembly to six months, since it convenes each January.

Only Tuesday, Gov. Scranton urged in his farewell speech to the legislature that the general assembly meet more often and wrap up its business quickly.

Sen. Wilcox E. Fleming, R-Montgomery, was chief sponsor of three bills dealing with indebtedness of townships, school districts, and municipalities. They have bipartisan backing.

One bill would raise the indebtedness ceiling of a first class township from 2 to 5 per cent of the county valuation of the township property.

A second bill would permit the voters of a municipality to raise its debt limit from 7 to 15 per cent of the municipality's assessed valuation.

The same measure would allow a municipal government to issue general obligation bonds up to 5 per cent of the community's assessed valuation instead of the present 2 per cent without a vote by the people.

The third debt measure would permit the raising of indebtedness of a first class and first class A school districts from 5 to 15 per cent of taxable property and from 7 to 15 per cent in the cases of second, third, and fourth class school districts.

Missile

tors of the type used in Vietnam, were flying in the Caribbean preparing to pursue and attack the Mace in a test of missile capability.

The missile, however, failed to make a scheduled turn after it had blasted away from Eglin's proving ground facility an headed on a south-south-easterly course toward Cuba at an altitude of 25,000 feet.

A third Phantom jet, which had been stationed in the area, was alerted and fell in behind the high-flying missile about 100 miles out at sea.

For 90 miles, and almost halfway to Cuba, the Phantom jet trailed the subsonic missile.

Two of the jet's air-to-air missiles of a type under development missed their mark. The pilot scored an undetermined number of hits with his 20mm cannon, a spokesman said, but the missile continued its flight.

Gauguin, Geriualt, Pasoin, Renoir, Utrillo and Vuillard.

Also included are four Derains, seven Matisses, six Picassos, three Seurats and three Toulouse-Lautrecs.

Maillol, Renoir, Rodin, Epstein and Malvina Hoffman are represented in the sculpture exhibit.

The exhibition, which occupies two floors of the ultra-modern museum building on Columbus Circle, will remain there through mid-March and will open in Philadelphia in April.

Wife's News of Release 'Just Wonderful'

MATAMORAS, Pa. (AP) — "Wonderful, it's just wonderful."

That was the reaction of Mrs. Helen Scales yesterday when she learned that her husband, Thomas, 44, a construction worker, had been freed by the Viet Cong.

Scales' sister, Mrs. Nicholas Fedorka of RD 2 James town, N.Y., said last night that she and her husband were "very delighted" at the news of Scales' release. Fedorka is a teacher in the Falconer, N.Y., Central School System. He said yesterday that Scales was best man at his wedding. He also termed the construction worker's release "wonderful."

"It's hard to keep your spirits up after seven months, but we prayed every day and that helped," Mrs. Scales said. After talking by telephone to her husband, Mrs. Scales reported that "he said he's in pretty good shape, although he's a little weak and has lost some weight."

"I told him we prayed every day, and he said he prayed, too," she added.

Mrs. Scales said she never lost faith that her husband was alive but, she went on, she has "quite an imagination" and the long days of waiting were filled with fear for what might be happening to him.

In November she was informed that Scales had been captured by hostile forces and was being detained. The silence since then broke with a rush yesterday, starting about 2 a.m.

The State Department called then to say he had been released. About two hours later Scales himself called.

His call started with "Hello, honey" and ended with "I love you very much," but while she knew he was all right she said later she "wasn't prepared, really" for the emotional impact of hearing his voice.

Scales told her he had lost 70 pounds from his normal weight of 160 (he stands 5-foot-11).

Scales, a native of Port Jervis, N.Y., went to Viet Nam in March, 1965. He worked on plumbing installations for the U.S. Armed Forces. Monahan, a long time friend, went with Scales at the same time. They had worked together about five years earlier on Distant Early Warning (DEW line) project in the Arctic. Scales is a navy veteran of World War II.

How about his future plans? "I imagine he'll just want to sit in his own house and rest a while," said Mrs. Scales. The couple has one child—a married son, Thomas.

Shafer Appoints Dr. Georges New Health Secretary

HARRISBURG (AP) — Dr. Thomas W. Georges, a special assistant in the Public Welfare Department, was named by Gov.-elect Raymond P. Shafer yesterday to replace Dr. Charles L. Wilbar as state Health Secretary.

In announcing the appointment of the Philadelphia Negro, Shafer said:

"Pennsylvania is extremely fortunate in obtaining the services of a man of Dr. Georges' background in public health to replace Dr. Wilbar, who, himself, has given long and faithful service to the public."

Wilbar held the cabinet-level post through the Democratic Lawrence Administration, 1959-63, and the present Republican Scranton Administration, 1963-67.

He is expected to accept a teaching position in the public health field, Shafer said.

Georges was appointed in December, 1965, by former Welfare Secretary Arlin M. Adams as a special assistant to the secretary with specific responsibility for directing state participation in the federal medicare program.

Georges, 39, receives $22,768 in his present post. He will be paid $25,000 annually in the cabinet office.

In and Around The Nation's Capital

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Department of Agriculture says adverse weather caused the decline in Latin America's agricultural production in 1966.

In the lowlands of the Andes, the department report said, the problem was not enough rain; in the Caribbean it was too much, in the form of hurricanes. In the eastern and southern areas of South America, heavy rains damaged early crops but helped pasture land and later crops.

"The principal impact of adverse weather was in coffee, sugar cane, and rice with some reduction in beans, cocoa, cotton, tobacco and tubers," the department said.

WASHINGTON (AP) — European scientists with a satellite ready for outer space but no way to get it there, will be given the opportunity to hire American rockets and launch sites to do the job.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration says it has signed an agreement with the European Space Research Organization under which NASA will provide launch vehicles, facilities, initial tracking and telemetry reception and other support, for the launching of European spacecraft.

The European group is to reimburse NASA for the rockets and all identifiable direct costs and certain indirect costs.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The International Monetary Fund said yesterday it has approved a standby arrangement under which the Philippines may draw the equivalent of $55 million during the next year.

The fund said this provides the Philippines with "a secondary line of reserve" in case of temporary foreign exchange difficulties, and would help strengthen the Philippine peso.

"I know of no response from any source that indicates a willingness on the part of North Vietnam to respect the reciprocal aspect of that proposition."
— Bill D. Moyers, presidential press secretary, commenting on proposals to halt the bombing of North Vietnam.

Capital Footnotes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Republican women in state legislatures have been invited to an unprecedented conference in Washington next April, it was announced yesterday by Mary Brooks, assistant Republican national chairman. The invitation was extended to the 149 Republican women who have won legislative seats in 34 states.

The Republican party, which won three seats away from the Democrats in the Senate in November's election, received delivery of them yesterday. Carpenters shifted three desks from the Democratic side of the Senate to the Republican side.

That still left the Democrats, however, with a sizable majority—64 to 36.

Are We Doing Our Bit?

Are we losing our patriotism? Do we appreciate the sacrifices being made by thousands of boys who are battling in the rice paddies and jungles of Vietnam that the American way of life may survive?

A Warren area mother, with a son deep in the heart of the Vietnamese war area, thinks the average citizen doesn't care a hoot about what those boys are doing, what privations they are suffering, and what great sacrifices they are prepared to make and are making for "you and me".

And she is probably correct in her deductions to a great extent.

The gravity of the situation in Vietnam has failed to arouse most Americans to the depth its possible critical consequences justify. Absence of a formal war declaration to throw the entire country into the geared-up tempo which brings most forcibly to mind the real impact of war probably is the reason for the failure of realization of the critical situation in the Far East.

But formal declaration or not, we have a war on our hands in Vietnam and despite the occasional assurances from Washington that the situation is improving, it's beginning to take on the magnitude of a conflict too long viewed in a narrow perspective.

Whether our handling of policies in Vietnam is right or wrong, we are there with several hundred thousand men. Our chief objective, we believe, has been and remains honorable--checking another infiltration by communism which already has engulfed too much of the world.

Success of the Moscow-Peking world domination crowd in Vietnam may mean the fall of that entire part of the Far East to the Communists. And when that occurs, the movement elsewhere will be only a matter of time. It just might be a lot closer to our own shores.

While it is difficult to convince the pacifists and the peace-at-any-price shouters of the hazard to our homes, our safety and our very lives which the Vietnam mess offers, actually it has become one of the most critical situations ever to confront this nation.

Fortunate we are that the fighting thus far has been several thousand miles distant. Unless it is brought to an early consummation through victory or negotiation, however, we may not be so fortunate. We may be faced by another Pearl Harbor, bloodshed, destruction and the horrors of war at its worst right on our own doorsteps.

As the discouraged mother believes, our patriotism probably has slipped and slipped badly. We need restoration of the red-blooded Americanism which met and conquered all major crises of the past. We need to teach it, we need to preach it, and we need to practice it.

We can well get along without a lot of this foreign bunk, isms and what-have-you which have derailed our sensible thinking. We can well renew our faith in the principles upon which our country was founded and which have been preserved by "Americans willing to fight and to sacrifice their lives" to give us the highest standard of living in the world, as well as the greatest freedom and independence, opportunity and way of life enjoyed anywhere.

Let's return to the Americanism which built, which developed and which preserved this great republic. We owe that much to those boys who are "over there" in Vietnam!

SILVIA PORTER Minimum Wage Laws

On February 1, less than a month from today, the first parts of the sweeping 1966 amendments to the federal wage-hour laws will go into effect. They will represent the most drastic overhaul of these laws since their enactment 29 years ago, will also signal an historic breakthrough in minimum wage coverage of U. S. workers. Under the amendments:

++ The minimum wage of nearly 30 million previously covered workers will rise from today's $1.25 to $1.40 an hour. This will mean 3.8 million workers will get automatic wage hikes; the rest already make $1.40 an hour or more.

++ For the first time, another 8 million workers will come under the laws, will be guaranteed a minimum of $1 an hour and will be eligible for overtime after 44 hours a week. This will mean about one million newly covered workers will get wage hikes; the rest already make $1 an hour or more.

++ Of the newly covered workers 390,000 will be farm workers. This is the historic breakthrough -- even though the provision now will apply only to workers on large commercial farms which employ the equivalent of seven or more full-time hired men. But this is only the opening wedge. President Johnson himself hailed the extension to farm hands as "just a starter."

++ Most of the other 8 million newly covered workers will be employees of retail stores, restaurants, hotels and other enterprises with annual sales of $500,000 or more. The "sales test" until now has been $1 million.

Moreover, Feb. 1 will mark only the first steps. The minimum wage for previously covered workers will rise again to $1.60 an hour on Feb. 1, 1968 -- giving automatic wage hikes to about 5.9 million workers. The minimum wage for newly covered workers will rise to $1.15 and they'll be entitled to overtime after 42 hours a week -- giving more automatic wage hikes to more millions. A whole range of other changes is threaded through the laws. Directly ahead is a massive liberalization indeed.

What will it all mean? To the workers directly affected, the obvious meaning is more pay. A worker getting $50 for a 40-hour week, for instance, will get $56 ($1.40 times 40 hours -- $56).

To workers above the minimums, the amendments also will mean more pay, for they will demand -- and win -- raises to maintain wage differentials.

To U. S. employers, the changes will mean an extra wage bill running near $2 billion a year just to comply with the new minimums, according to a Prentice-Hall analysis. And they will mean a wage bill running to millions of additional dollars for employees who will insist on pay increases to maintain wage differentials.

To our economy in general, the amendments will mean a stimulant to purchasing power -- and every penny being granted because of the new minimums will be spent by the workers immediately. At this wage level there's not much, if any, room for savings.

Undoubtedly the higher wage bills will squeeze some marginal enterprises. Undoubtedly the costs will be passed on to a moderate extent at least in the form of some price increases. But the evidence is persuasive that the bitter opponents of the 1966 amendments exaggerated the harmful impact on business. There have been significant increases in the minimum wage since 1938: from an original 25 cents an hour to 40 cents in 1945, to 75 cents in 1948, to $1 in 1955, to $1.15 in 1962, to $1.25 in 1964. Before each increase, a cry of "disaster to business" was raised; after each increase, the U. S. economy adjusted to the steeper costs with comparative ease.

What's more, Prentice-Hall points out a series of ways businessmen can -- and undoubtedly will -- offset much of the expense. As an illustration, many will maintain wage differentials by percentage increases which gradually taper off, instead of boosting salaries by an identical amount. The $50 a week man will get $6; the $60 a week man might get $5; the $70 a week man, $4; the $80 a week man, $3; the $90 a week man, $2; the $100 a week man, $1; and the $110 a week man, $0. Others will shift hourly jobs to incentive piece-rate jobs. Still others will adjust their methods of paying overtime to keep these costs to a minimum.

But one point that "Feb. 1" will dramatize above all: 1967 will be a year of powerful up-trend in paychecks.

On Going It Alone

The outlook for the new year would be brighter if in talking about the war in Vietnam we could get rid of the idea that the country is confronted with the sharp choice between winning or losing the war, between unconditional and immediate withdrawal and the unconditional surrender of the enemy.

These absolute choices are easy to talk about, but they represent a failure to think at all. They hide the real problem and make it unmanageable.

The real problem is to find some middle ground between a South Vietnam which must remain indefinitely under American occupation and a South Vietnam under the direct domination of North Vietnam.

There is no hope that the activists in North and South Vietnam can ever agree to the permanence of the American military presence in South Vietnam. The North Vietnamese on the other hand can have no hope that the United States will withdraw its forces and throw the regime in South Vietnam to its enemies. There is hope only in a negotiated compromise.

The compromise can, however, not be negotiated so long as the President is placed in the false dilemma of victory or defeat, win or no-win, go up or get out, withdrawal or knock-them-out. To be asked to choose the impossible, the unreal, among various forms of non-sense.

There is on one extreme the notion that the American forces can be forced to withdraw, either because they are defeated in battle or because the American people grow weary of the battle. Mr. Jean Sainteny, who has known Ho Chi Minh longer and has seen him more recently than any Westerner, says that North Vietnam may be suffering from the illusion that American forces in Indochina, though stronger than the French forces were in the Fifties, will follow the same course down to defeat.

Ho Chi Minh thinks this, he is entertaining a very dangerous illusion. The American military power cannot be defeated by any Asian army that can be mobilized and equipped. The American Army can stay in South Vietnam until it is deliberately withdrawn under a negotiated settlement.

But while the Americans cannot be defeated, it does not follow that they can win. Those who are able to wreck a house completely and effectively are not often the same men who can build a new house.

The extremist hawks are well represented by the chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, Mendel Rivers, who wants us "to flatten Hanoi and let world opinion go fly a kite." If men like him prevail--and unfortunately they have been increasingly on the ascendant since 1965--we shall be in worse trouble than we are in now.

The Rivers view, which is the theory of the Air Force, is important because the President, though protesting and resisting, has again and again yielded to it. We can afford no illusions about the consequences of taking this absolute course.

If the country presents itself as uniquely and unilaterally entitled to use unlimited military force in Vietnam it will isolate itself among the nations of the world.

Chairman Rivers thinks that all that this will mean is that the other nations will make speeches and write editorials and march in demonstrations. He knows little of the world.

Once the strongest military power on earth has identified itself as willing and ready to use unlimited force for its own ends, there begins, as we see in history, the formation of a coalition to contain its militancy. That is where things have been pointing since 1965. That is where they will go if we think that we can use our weapons and ignore world opinion.

The self-righteous use of military power will be just as dangerous to the United States as it has proved to be before in the history of nations. The out-and-out militarist power will write other nations against it.

The tough guys among us who cannot find words scornful enough to express their contempt for those who ask for a decent respect of the opinions of mankind are foolish and ignorant men. They know no history, and they know little of the world they are talking about.

If they have their way, we, too, like the militarists of the past, shall find that fear of our power and distrust of our purposes will bring about an alignment of the nations against us.

"Only about two inches," I said.

"Well, if you take two inches away here and two inches away there, you can put another row of seats on the plane."

"Then my knees should be flush against the seat ahead?"

"Naturally, my dear boy. You can't expect leg room on such a short hop. One more thing. I was wondering how you feel about a reclining seat as opposed to a stationary one."

"I prefer a reclining seat. It gives me a chance to rest a little."

He started writing in his book. "Customer too tempted by reclining chair, so I strongly recommend stationary kind which will allow us two more rows in back."

He looked at me. "You came on board with a package. What did you do with it?"

"I put it under my seat."

He wrote again, "Customer can still get package under seat which means we're wasting valuable space which could better be used for air freight."

"You people really think of everything," I said.

"We try to," he replied, "but it's a tough struggle. There are a lot of people in the aviation business who are behind the times and we have to show them that their best interests lie not with the passengers but with the stockholders. I'm having a devil of a time trying to get the company to remove the arm rests."

"You want to do away with the arm rests?"

"Of course. If you did away with the arm rests everyone would be forced to sit closer together and we could get eight people in a row."

"Say, have you ever thought of putting people in the baggage rack overhead?" I asked him.

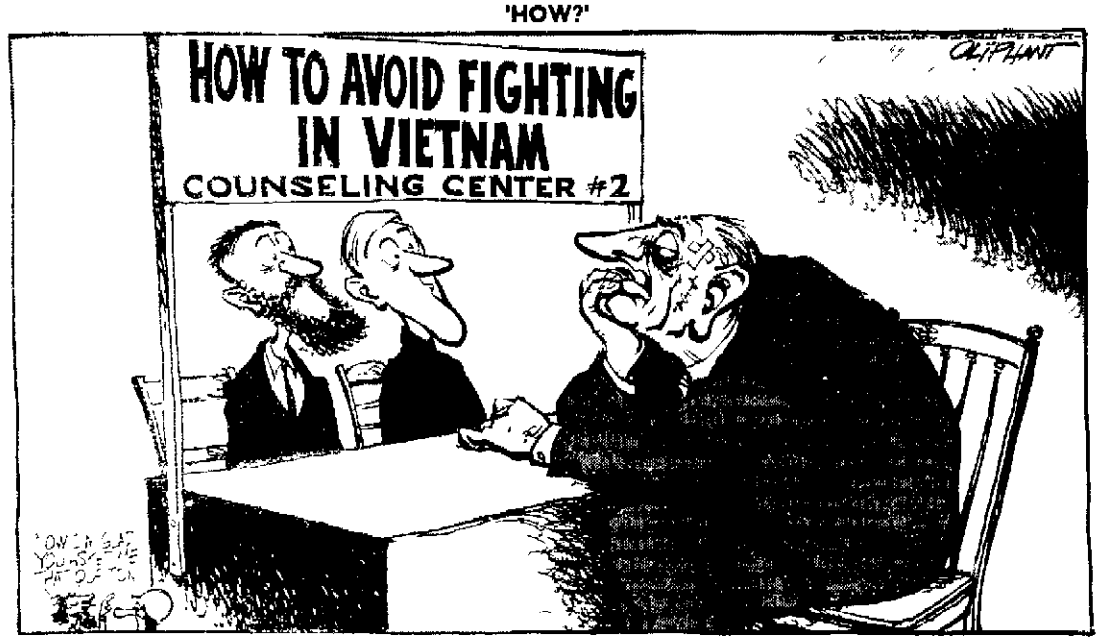

He studied it for a few moments. "It could be done if we could fit them in horizontally." He made another note. "Check about stuffing people into overhead baggage rack."

"You covered all the bases," I said in admiration.

"Not quite," he said, staring at the washroom.

The Self-Deceiving Republicans

(c) N.Y. Times News Service

WASHINGTON--The Republicans are returning to Washington in a state of jovial optimism. They have been reading the popularity polls. They have been gloating over the trials of President Johnson in the press, and convincing themselves that all the troublesome riddles of life are going to bring him down.

They had better beware. This strenuous, vehement man is not going to be defeated by a lot of press cuttings and polls. He is not going to give up at the first mere rustle of a hiss. The polls for the moment are against him and no President has been so severely criticized since Harry Truman in 1947, but the facts of political life are still very much with him.

Even if it is assumed that the Vietnam war is still going on in 1968, the American people are not accustomed to rejecting their own Commander in Chief in the face of the enemy. Everything else about Vietnam is ambiguous but this is fairly plain. It is easy to tell a pollster at the door 22 months before an election that Lyndon Johnson is not your favorite character, but going into a polling booth and voting against him in the middle of a war, with all the comfort his defeat would give Moscow, Hanoi and Peking, is a completely different matter.

misleading. Almost every President declines in popularity in the middle of his term. It is easy to forget now that President Kennedy was having so much trouble with the Congress that he almost had a constitutional crisis on his hands just before he was killed. Also, the absence of President Johnson from the capital in recent weeks has cut down his momentum, but he is back now and this will soon be re-established by the torrent of presidential speeches and messages that will dominate the news for the rest of January.

On the Republican side, the present picture is equally misleading. The G.O.P. is like a sick man who is back on his feet again, but it is still a divided minority party without a commanding candidate or a popular program for ending the war.

Lyndon Johnson may not be popular, but he is not the kind of man you would hand your hat to by mistake. He is better when the going is tough than at any other time, and with all the advantages of the presidency at his disposal, he is a formidable figure, especially when measured against the opposition candidates.

Gov. George Romney is still in the photographic and theological phase of his campaign. He has not yet educated himself on many of the great international questions that have caused the President so much agony, and nobody knows how he will do in savage questioning and the blare and bluster of the primaries and the convention.

If he staggers and blunders, somebody else may very well come to the fore. The Johnson administration already has William Scranton of Pennsylvania under consideration for one of several jobs, so he will probably vanish from the picture. Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York is not out of consideration no matter what he says, but every prospective candidate troubles if he does not alienate some section of the G.O.P., and this includes former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the most likely compromise.

Accordingly, much of the talk about the defeat of the President in 1968, based on hypothetical situations in the future, is premature if not downright silly. In fact, the criticism of him recently has been so severe that it is beginning to rebound in his favor.

Some of the Republicans know all this very well. The G.O.P. House leader, Rep. Gerald Ford of Michigan, is taking all the new Republican House members down to Airline House at Warrenton, Va., this week for a hard look at the whole picture. They will be briefed on economic, foreign policy and political questions, and set their strategy for the 90th Congress, and it can be assumed that these private sessions will be much more realistic about the Republican party's true problems than the polls or the party pronouncements.

'Fiscal Watchdogs'

Pennsylvania News Service

HARRISBURG -- Yelps and barks unquestionably will be heard from Pennsylvania's fiscal watchdogs during the course of the first two years of the administration of incoming Governor-elect Raymond Philip Shafers.

This is "another one of those things" the new administration has to look forward to inasmuch as the "fiscal watchdogs" -- State Auditor General and State Treasury -- continue for another two years in Democratic hands.

Insofar as Republicans are concerned however, the yelps from these two elective fiscal offices shouldn't be too unexpected or unusual--for it was only a comparatively few years ago that they themselves were doing the barking from the fiscal doghouses.

It will be recalled that when Democrats moved into the gubernatorial sanctum atop Capitol Hill back in 1955, Republicans held the reins in these two fiscal departments--a feat which they continued until 1960 when for the first time since the somewhat un-gay 1930's and early 1940's Democrats were elected to assume the fiscal occupancy.

In a good, solid sense--from the standpoint of the Pennsylvania taxpayer interest--the idea of having the opposition party in control of the State's two fiscal offices is excellent. Quite obviously it provides a much closer check on spending policies of the administration in power at the time.

This was what developed when Pennsylvania Democrats moved into the gubernatorial suite--with Republicans still holding the two fiscal offices. In fact it got to the point where it was quite exasperating to Democratic administration officials.

Repeatedly during these days Republican fiscalmen questioned and held up Democratic administration proposals.

In 1963 a curious switch developed though--not only from the standpoint that the two tables were completely reversed, of flee and function-wise, but also from the standpoint that two of the principals (personality-wise, that is) were involved in a complete switch.

To illustrate: Governor Lawrence's then Budget Secretary, David R. Baldwin (who incidentally today holds the post of Assistant Secretary of Commerce in Washington) quite frequently found himself on the defensive during the first two years of the Lawrence Administration when Republicans controlled the two elective fiscal offices.

(The "conflict" petered out when Democrats also assumed control of the two fiscal offices in 1960.)

One of those with whom Budgetman Baldwin "feuded" during those GOP fiscal years was Martin H. Brackbill, a former newspaperman turned Deputy Auditor General.

But then in 1963 it was accuracy-insistent Martin H. Brackbill who was named by Republican Governor Scranton to Mr. Baldwin's old post of Budget Secretary under the new Scranton Administration--while going over to Democratic State Treasury as Executive Assistant was former Budget Secretary Baldwin!

In other words, in 1963, the Baldwin-Brackbill saga was replayed once again--only this time with each in opposite roles.

Well, in the interim, Mr. Brackbill retired from state service. Mr. Baldwin went to Washington, a new Republican Governor will assume office less than two weeks hence--and again during the new GOP administration the two fiscal watchdog offices will continue in Democratic hands for at least two more years.

In all probability there will be some hearty fiscal yelps ere the two years remaining have floated by--for after all, 1968 is a critical presidential year when ammunition will be sorely needed by Pennsylvania Democrats if they hope to carry the Keystone State that year and regain control of at least one legislative chamber!

ART BUCHWALD

The Human Engineer

WASHINGTON -- There is a new science in this country which is called "human engineering." The object of human engineering, as I understand it, is to fit human beings into inhuman conditions.

I made this discovery while riding on an airplane from New York to Washington the other day. Seated next to me was a man who was taking very careful measurement of the space between us and then writing it in a notebook.

I asked him what he was doing and he said he was a human engineer and it was his job to see how many more people he could squeeze on an airplane without doing permanent bodily harm to the passengers.

"We used to have five seats across," he said proudly, "but we've managed to put another seat in each row and as you can see we can now get six people across."

"How on earth did you do it?" I asked him.

"We cut the center aisle in half. The passengers have to walk sideways but just think of what the extra seats mean to the company's payroll."

"Which, of course, is all that you're worried about."

"You can bet your sweet whistle on that," he said. "I'm very concerned though that there still seems to be room between your knees and the seat in front of you."

"Only about two inches," I said.

"Well, if you take two inches away here and two inches away there, you can put another row of seats on the plane."

"Then my knees should be flush against the seat ahead?"

"Naturally, my dear boy. You can't expect leg room on such a short hop. One more thing. I was wondering how you feel about a reclining seat as opposed to a stationary one."

"I prefer a reclining seat. It gives me a chance to rest a little."

He started writing in his book. "Customer too tempted by reclining chair, so I strongly recommend stationary kind which will allow us two more rows in back."

He looked at me. "You came on board with a package. What did you do with it?"

"I put it under my seat."

He wrote again, "Customer can still get package under seat which means we're wasting valuable space which could better be used for air freight."

"You people really think of everything," I said.

"We try to," he replied, "but it's a tough struggle. There are a lot of people in the aviation business who are behind the times and we have to show them that their best interests lie not with the passengers but with the stockholders. I'm having a devil of a time trying to get the company to remove the arm rests."

"You want to do away with the arm rests?"

"Of course. If you did away with the arm rests everyone would be forced to sit closer together and we could get eight people in a row."

"Say, have you ever thought of putting people in the baggage rack overhead?" I asked him.

He studied it for a few moments. "It could be done if we could fit them in horizontally." He made another note. "Check about stuffing people into overhead baggage rack."

"You covered all the bases," I said in admiration.

"Not quite," he said, staring at the washroom.

The Most Important Thing

WASHINGTON — With the possible exception of the Vietnam war, the most important thing that is happening in the world at the moment is the interminable, intricate and mysterious power struggle in China. Hence, it is worth noting that the struggle seems to be moving into a new stage.

What almost amounts to a call for a general rising was the main feature of the New Year's editorial jointly published in Peking by Red Flag and The People's Daily. The "cultural revolution" is now to spread to "the factories and farms." In every province of China the workers and peasants are to be "broadly aroused" to overthrow "those in authority who are taking the capitalist road."

"Fully develop extensive democracy" — which means government by hysterical mass meetings — is the new watchword. All this may well seem a bit bewildering in a one-man state, but it simply means that the faction headed by Mao Tse-tung and Lin Biao is getting ready to take the ultimate risk in order to destroy the entrenched leaders of the party apparatus who have turned away from Maoism.

The Mao-Lin faction has apparently been driven to go so far because Liu Shao-chi, Teng Hsiao-ping and the other leaders of the party apparatus "who have taken the capitalist road" have thus far successfully resisted all the attacks upon them.

Liu Shao-chi, the official chief of state, and the party secretary, Teng Hsiao-ping, have been under vicious personal attack in wall posters, at mass meetings and by parades through the streets of Peking for some weeks now. But the New Year's editorial indicates quite clearly that they and their allies have neither submitted nor resigned their offices.

Even in Peking, in fact, it would appear that the Mao-Lin faction enjoys only diluted control.

Through the propaganda minister, Tao Chu, the communications media are certainly controlled. And when it comes to organizing mass meetings and deploying Red Guards, the Mao-Lin group clearly has a wide edge over its enemies.

But the other side evidently has its own wall-poster experts, if one can judge by the counter-demonstrations of Tao Chu, of the shrill wife of Mao Tse-tung, Chiang Ching, and of other Mao-Lin partisans which have also been plastered on walls in Peking.

More important still, it is now pretty clear that Liu Shao-chi and Teng Hsiao-ping have means of physically protecting themselves from arrest, perhaps through connections with the Peking garrison.

When the two principal leaders of the resistance began to be attacked by name, it is known that the guard on Liu Shao-chi's residence was promptly and significantly strengthened. And if Liu did not have the power to command this guard at his residence, it is obvious that he ought to have been arrested long since — for both he and Teng Hsiao-ping are being daily accused of treason and other capital crimes.

Hence, even the situation in Peking is far from satisfactory if the evidence does not mislead. But the evidence further indicates that the situation is much worse in many of the provinces of China. The most important item of evidence is the sudden failure of the old stenographic echo system.

In the old days, any major call for action published in Peking was echoed and re-echoed in every province. Nowadays, however, too often the echo does not work. Too often, Peking bellows, and the provinces are silent.

The documents make it pretty clear, moreover, that the reason for this is that Liu Shao-chi and Teng Hsiao-ping last summer organized the leaders of the party apparatus in the provinces, and these provincial bosses are also standing firm against the Mao-Lin group.

This is the reason, one must conclude, why the signals have now been reversed and something like a general rising is being called for. The cultural revolution was formerly kept out of "the farms and factories" in order to prevent production setbacks. But now the farms and factories are also to be engulfed and quite certainly disorganized.

"Extensive democracy" is to blossom everywhere. The aim, beyond doubt, is to subvert the party apparatus that still controls the provinces and resists Liu Shao-chi and the "thought of Mao."

Altogether, the picture one gets of the present stage in China is as strange as it is lurid. The picture can, of course, change dramatically at any moment. Despite the protection they apparently enjoy, Liu Shao-chi and Teng Hsiao-ping may finally be arrested, as the Yugoslav News Agency has already predicted.

But they have evidently not been arrested as yet. And the resistance to Mao and Lin is evidently judged to be sufficiently strong to defeat any measures except the most dangerous possible measure. For it is bound to be very dangerous indeed to try to pull down much of the existing structure of authority throughout China by ill-controlled mass action.

Still Philosophical

Add one more to the traffic toll, Big John. He broke a rib on Christmas Day. He was in a one-way zone between his bedroom and the bathroom — which is also a gangway zone — on foot when his big leather chair leaped up and cracked him across the chest.

Peculiar. He said "Ooh!" and muttered a few descriptive phrases for the chair, and went on, shuffling toward the john. His gait is so slow that he could be patted by slow turtles.

He asked him "If it hurts, and he said "Damn right it does. Bring me a little Scotch whisky." I said "I'd rather call the doctor. He said he had faith in whisky. He got neither.

The night before, he had said: "In the morning, you people start opening the presents. Let me sleep. I've got a lot of mileage on me." He's 83.

So we didn't wake him. The children hardly got the wrappings off the first gift on Christmas morning when he came tottering out of his pad, an ancient Irish warrior in a bathrobe. He adjusted his glasses, murmured "Merry Christmas" to one and all, and said: "Better go inside and get my teeth. There may be something to eat in this pile."

He looks better with the cup and saucer in. Without them, his whole head looks like something that got a free ride in a revolving door. So he sat, and the blue eyes twinkled silently as he watched the faces of Gayle and Karen and Kathleen, and heard the shrieks of joy.

From the robe came Christmas envelopes with checks. He passed them out like a sharpshooter. "Pick a card, Pick any card." My father turned on his sad smile. "I'm too old to go shopping," he said. "So I have to give out checks." All the girls stared happily at the numbers and said: "Oh, that's all right, Grandpa."

Among the gifts I received was one from G. P. Putnam's Sons. It is called The Millionaire's Diary, 1967. Big John examined the rich red cover and took his check back. He waited patiently for the Christmas egg-nog. It arrived scrambled, with bacon. He said it was one hell of a Christmas. I reminded him that Dr. Louis Bennett told him "much water, no whiskey".

He said he was trying to forget it. Kelly told him he could have his heart pill, his ulcer pill, the diuretic pill, the cathartic pill, the nerve pill, two vitamin pills and a cup of tea. "I just got finished telling you," he snarled at me. "He's one hell of a Christmas." He tucked all the after-shave lotion sent to

Pentagon Rebuts Salisbury Dispatch

By BOB HORTON

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Pentagon made public Tuesday what amounts to an official rebuttal of some portions of a New York Times dispatch about U.S. bombing of North Vietnam's third-largest city.

A denial that U.S. planes have deliberately bombed civilian areas of Nam Dinh was included in a letter from the Defense Department to Rep. Ogden R. Reid, R-N.Y.

The letter, dated Dec. 30, was signed by Phil G. Goulding, deputy assistant secretary of defense for public affairs.

Reid had asked the Pentagon for a restatement of U.S. policy on bombing and targeting in North Vietnam in the light of recent Times dispatches describing widespread civilian deaths and damage.

A Times' assistant managing editor, Harrison Salisbury, reported last week that U.S. planes have systematically attacked Nam Dinh, and hit non-military targets including a textile plant and dikes, killing 89 persons.

Salisbury, in a story datelined

Hanoi on Dec. 25 and printed Dec. 27, said: "No American communique has asserted that Nam Dinh contains some facility that the United States regards as a military objective."

Goulding said this statement "is without accuracy." He said a spot check of information releases given out in Saigon and Washington showed at least three strikes on the city had been announced—once in April and twice last May.

"The New York Times simply did not take the time to research the matter themselves—or, indeed, to ask our assistance," Goulding said.

Salisbury reported that a dike holding back water near Nam Dinh had been hit six times.

Goulding said: "No attack on any dike in North Vietnam has been targeted or approved."

DREW PEARSON

More Than Meets the Eye

WASHINGTON — There was much more than meets the eye behind the flare-up between Francis Cardinal Spellman, the persuasive, powerful Catholic cleric of New York, and Pope Paul IV, whose pacific philosophy is supposed to guide the Catholic church.

There have been differences between Spellman and the Vatican before, dating back to Pope John, also differences between Spellman and the hierarchy in the United States. In November the Conference of Catholic Bishops refused to take Spellman's all-out war stand, and only last week, Richard Cardinal Cushing in Boston made it clear that he stood firmly with the Pope in his efforts for peace, not with Cardinal Spellman who called for "total victory" in a war in which he said American troops are fighting as "soldiers of Christ."

The basic difference between the Pope and Spellman gets down to the reasons why in some diplomatic and political circles, the war in Vietnam is called "Spellman's war" not "Christ's war."

"It will come as a surprise to the American people that our soldiers have enlisted in the war as soldiers of Christ," said Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore. They have doubtless forgotten that it was Cardinal Spellman who arranged for a public relations firm to build up President Diem as the Catholic puppet of South Vietnam, and that Diem's brother, the Catholic bishop of Saigon, beat a well-worn path to Spellman's door to "promote the war."

With more American troops now in Southeast Asia than we had in Korea and with the Pope in complete disagreement with the cardinal of New York, it's important at this time to review the chronological steps by which we got into the so-called "Spellman war."

STEP NO. 1 took place in April, 1954, as the French faced certain defeat, Vice President Nixon at the April meeting of the American Society of Newspaper Editors told them, off the record, that Eisenhower planned to send troops to Indo-China. A leak caused such critical public reaction that the move was abandoned.

STEP NO. 2 occurred later that year as the French prepared to withdraw and the Geneva Conference was called to save France's face, Ngo Dinh Diem, described as a sort of "Catholic mandarin," had been at Maryknoll, the Catholic seminary outside New York, and was sent by Cardinal Spellman to see Sen. John F. Kennedy in Washington.

Sen. Kennedy then made a speech warning against a negotiated peace in Vietnam. It was a dead ringer for the statement warning against a negotiated peace which Cardinal Spellman issued this Christmas.

STEP NO. 3—Cardinal Spellman enlisted the support of Joseph P. Kennedy, wealthy father of the late President and a heavy contributor to Spellman's charities. The two had worked together in backing the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy. They arranged for the crack Harold Oram public relations firm, at a fee of $3,000 a month, to build up Diem as the man who could save Vietnam.

In cooperation with the Catholic Relief Agency, Spellman helped organize "The American Friends of Vietnam" to promote Diem and American aid for Vietnam.

STEP NO. 4 — By this time the Geneva Treaty had cut Vietnam into the North and South, with elections to be held two years later — 1956 — to decide whether they should unite. Cardinal Spellman, through his friend Vice President Nixon, wanted strong U.S. support for the South. Spellman had given his blessing to the Eisenhower-Nixon ticket against Adlai Stevenson. Nixon agreed with him regarding Vietnam; but not Eisenhower, who told me earlier he would never get American troops bogged down on the mainland of Asia.

At Christmas, 1954, Spellman took his first trip to Saigon, and handed refugees a $100,000 check from the Catholic Relief Agency. Back in the United States he sold the Eisenhower administration on contributing several millions in foreign aid. STEP NO. 5—Cardinal Spellman addressing the American Legion in 1955, said that the Geneva Treaty meant "traps" for freedom in Southeast Asia.

STEP NO. 6 — Eisenhower finally yielded to Nixon and sent military "advisers" to South Vietnam. A total of around 1,000 advisers was permitted under the Geneva Treaty.

STEP NO. 7 — The astute Harold Oram had built up Diem as a democrat. His speeches were liberally dosed with democratic cliches. He was regarded as the "father of South Vietnam."

When he became president it was necessary for the United States to use special secret police to keep him in power. As a Catholic in a country which is 80 per cent Buddhist, he was not popular in the first place, and his high-handed edicts enforced by graft-ridden subordinates made him less so. Eventually he was dethroned and assassinated.

STEP NO. 8 — President Kennedy in the fall of 1961 suffered setbacks at the Bay of Pigs and in his confrontation with Khrushchev at Vienna, with elections to be held two years later — 1966 — to decide whether they should unite. Cardinal Spellman, through his friend Vice President Nixon, wanted strong U.S. support for the South. Spellman had given his blessing to the Eisenhower-Nixon ticket against Adlai Stevenson. Nixon agreed with him regarding Vietnam; but not Eisenhower, who told me earlier he would never get American troops bogged down on the mainland of Asia.

At Christmas, 1954, Spellman took his first trip to Saigon, and handed refugees a $100,000 check from the Catholic Relief Agency. Back in the United States he sold the Eisenhower administration on contributing

Noted Preacher Will Speak Here Sunday

Dr. P. H. Augustine, of East Springfield, Pa., has been engaged by the McCurdy Men's Bible Class of the Grace Methodist Church for a public lecture Sunday, January 8 at 7:30 p.m. at Grace Church.

The noted preacher, traveler and educator has become famed throughout the east as a speaker who is most entertaining and inspiring.

During 1966 Augustine appeared here, first at the orientation sessions for the Summer Reading Program, teaching staff, and later at a special assembly at Beatty Junior High School. He made a tremendous hit on both occasions.

An ordained minister, Dr. Augustine has lectured in many cities, including many universities and schools, chiefly on the topic of present day youth and its goals and opportunities, and on marital problems in America.

Augustine is presently minister of the Federated Church in East Springfield and moderator of Community Christian Federated Churches.

Dr. and Mrs. Augustine have three children. They have traveled extensively, including Russia, the Holy Land, Alaska, and throughout Europe.

Advance Time For Closing Pa. Farm Show

Bernard Wingert, Warren County Agricultural Extension Agent, warns everyone interested that closing time for the Pennsylvania Farm Show has been moved up to 2 p.m. Friday, January 13.

Originally, he explains, official closing had been set for 4 p.m., with release of major exhibits two hours earlier. Horace L. Mann, show director, has now announced all livestock, including poultry and all commercial exhibits will be released at noon, Friday, Jan. 13, with the show officially closing that day at 2 p.m.

Wingert, Associate Agent Norman Perschke, and Home Economics director Sharon Corey leave this coming Friday forenoon to set up exhibits on Saturday and Sunday. Judging begins Sunday. Show opens officially Monday, January 9. Wingert will work with the Christmas tree exhibits division. Perschke is assigned to poultry and egg division. Mrs. Corey will work with the clothing competitive exhibit section. The group will take with them some of the items for 4-H Club and other entries.

Farmers Increasing Conservation Projects

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman reported yesterday that farmers are continuing to increase their efforts to conserve soil, water, timber and wildlife despite rising food demands upon them.

The secretary said that more than one million farms increased the acreage treated for conservation purposes in 1966 under a cost-sharing department conservation program. About $200 million in federal funds was spent on these efforts.

In addition, farmers in 339 counties in 33 states also obtained cost-sharing funds from the department to help repair and restore land damaged by natural disasters.

Art Masters Returned To Gallery Undamaged

By THOMAS A. REEDY

LONDON (AP) — Eight paintings worth an estimated $7 million were returned last night to the Dulwich Gallery, virtually undamaged after four days in the hands of thieves or lying around exposed to harsh winter weather.

Gallery officials said only two of the master works suffered any damage and that was easily repaired. The stolen art included works by Rembrandt, Rubens, Elsheimer and Gerard Dou.

A team of 21 Scotland Yard detectives swung into action Saturday morning when the biggest art theft in history was discovered.

They found three of the paintings in a thieves' hideout Monday night. An anonymous telephone tip Tuesday night led them to Streatham Common, four miles from the Dulwich Gallery in the suburbs of South London. There they found the remaining five wrapped in old newspapers behind a bush.

"The thieves," one police officer said, "didn't realize the enormity of the job, nor that you just can't sell such paintings."

Scotland Yard kept silent about the hideout where they recovered three of the paintings along with a hoard of other stolen goods and some weapons.

The police started with only two clues after the gallery opened its doors and found the stunning overnight theft.

Any Given Day

"On any given day," a term bantered about in the professional ranks these days, refers to the ability of any team to whip any other team at any time. The supposition is also true, of course, in amateur sports as the Bradford Owls discovered Tuesday night.

Another widely-accepted belief is that the "upset" is the major attraction in sports; the fans (or most of them) root for the underdog and if the favorite won all the time, "The Tammy Grimes Show" would outdraw the Super Bowl in the television ratings.

One victory doesn't make a season, but the triumph over the Owls certainly makes the local situation a lot brighter at this stage. It remains to be seen what result the lift will have on the team for the remainder of the season.

The win came at an opportune time for both coach and team and congratulations are in order.

It's ironic that Danny O'Neil was directly responsible for sending the game into overtime to make possible the victory. "Dangerous Dan" was--if you remember--also a key figure when the Dragons destroyed Bradford on the gridiron a couple months ago.

Suggested Resolutions

- A few resolutions that may be made by various sports personalities for the coming year:
- PAUL HORNUNG (halfback, groom-to-be)--To stay in the lineup, no matter how much it hurts.
  - HARRY WALKER (manager, mad hatter)--To let the pitching coaches handle the hurlers.
  - JOEL COLLIER (coach, poor loser)--To try to remember that there's another pretty good quarterback on the bench.
  - BLANTON COLLIER (coach, good loser)--To keep repeating "We don't miss Jim Brown, we don't miss Jim Brown..."
  - JOHNNY UNITAS (quarterback, fading legend)--To not carry the ball like a loaf of bread.
  - BUZZY BAVASI (general manager, mastermind)--To keep repeating "We don't miss Sandy, we don't miss Maury..."
  - BOB KUCHER (educator, ex-coach)--To remember that baseball IS the national game.
  - JOHN MARTIN (engraver, sportsfan)--to not bet with Tom Africa.
  - LES RICKEY (editor, lamplighter)--To not bet.
  - DAVE "SHUTAC" STEELE (bartender, man-about-town)--To enjoy myself more, be less shy with women.
  - PETE PEPKE (musician, circus fan, banker etc.)--To eat more homecooked meals.
  - IRV POUST (druggist, Pitt grad)--To keep repeating "Hart is a good recruiter, Hart is a good recruiter..."
  - DOUG SMITH (sportswriter, critic)--To try to make 112 by February.
  - CHUCK ANDERSON (sports editor, rebel)--To find a new home for the Bulldogs.
  - DON NEAL (outdoor writer, angler)--To resolve my differences with the Forestry Department, Department of Agriculture and the "Golden Passport."
  - LARRY STEELE (sports editor, no relation to bartender, man-about-town)--To spend more time in the office.

Jim Flanigan Named North's Co-Captain

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — The North team in Saturday's Senior Bowl named yesterday the nation's total offense leader and a stout defense man as co-captains for the all-star football game.

Quarterback Virgil Carter of Brigham Young was named the North offensive captain, and Pittsburgh's Jim Flanigan was elected defensive captain. The 6-3, 218-pound Flanigan will man a linebacker post.

Carter, who is 6-1 and 185, took the major college total offense title by passing and running for an astounding 2,545 yards during the regular season.

The South squad will pick its captains today.

South Coach Otto Graham of the Washington Redskins surprised some railbirds by working quarterback Wayne Trimble of Alabama on passing yesterday.

Trimble is listed as a defensive back on the South roster but Graham gave the 6-3, 203-pounder a chance to show his throwing arm in the afternoon drill.

Trimble was backup man for quarterback Kenny Stabler during the past season at Alabama and for Steve Sloan in 1965. He completed only 19 passes during the 1966 season but seven were for touchdowns.

Graham and North Coach Norm Van Brocklin of the Minnesota Vikings put their 28-man squads through two lengthy and spirited practices. Both continued to accent passing but also gave their running backs plenty of work.

Carter shared quarterbacking duties with North Dakota's Corey Colehour, who completed 292 passes during the past season.

Baylor's Terry Southall and West Texas State's Hank Washington joined in the signal calling duties with Trimble. Southall and Washington were the nation's fourth and fifth-ranked passers, respectively, among major college players last season.

Norman, Okla. (AP) — Carl (Buck) Nyström, 33, football assistant coach the last four years at North Dakota State, has joined the University of Oklahoma football coaching staff, Athletic Director Comer Jones announced yesterday.

Chiefs Counting on Pride For Victory over Packers

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG Associated Press Sports Writer
KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Kansas City Chiefs say they won the AFL title game for owner Lamar Hunt and they are playing the Super Bowl game with Green Bay's NFL champs for the entire AFL, past and present.

Pride was the word Tuesday as the Chiefs were given a rousing sendoff by their enthusiastic fans at their departure for training camp at Long Beach, Calif., their home until the world title game Jan. 15.

Co-Capt. Jerry Mays said the Chiefs beat Buffalo 31-7 in Sunday's title game particularly for Hunt, founder of the AFL and prime mover the AFL-NFL merger leading to the long-awaited playoff.

"It's because of Lamar we're here," Mays said. "There would be no Chiefs, or the AFL or even the Super Bowl if it wasn't for Lamar. Hell, there wouldn't even have been a Dallas Cowboys without Lamar."

He was referring to the NFL awarding a franchise to Dallas to combat Hunt's new team, which moved to Kansas City after a 1962 title year.

"I'm very elated about the opportunity to represent the AFL," said Coach Hank Stram. "We feel we'll be playing this game for every team, every player, every coach and every official in the AFL since its inception. It's a matter of pride."

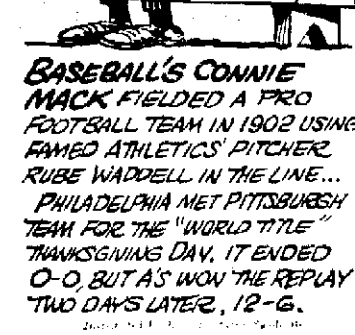

Money was secondary in all talk by the Kansas City players about the world title game, even though the winners will get $15,000 apiece.

The inference was they'd almost be willing to play the NFL champs for nothing. Some of the veterans doubtless would do just that. And it was interesting to note it was the veterans who had the most confidence in the club's ability against Green Bay.

Almost to a man, they were glad the opponent will be Green Bay.

"We've been waiting for this playoff for seven years," said Chris Burford, veteran split end. No one mentioned money.

"Football is a game of emotion and you can't play it with feeling if you don't love the game," Stram said. "If you don't love it you can't have this pride. I guarantee you, if we didn't have this, we wouldn't be winners."

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — Professional football player Don Perkins, offered a "very responsible administrative position in state government," hasn't decided whether to accept it.

Perkins, who has said he probably will quit as a fullback for the Dallas Cowboys this year, conferred with Gov. David F. Cargo Tuesday and then met newsmen.

"I have some other job offers," Perkins said. "In all probability I will accept the governor's offer, but as long as there's any possible room for doubt, I couldn't make the announcement at this time."

Cargo would not give details of the job but said, "It's a good one, a very responsible administrative position in state government."

Scholarships Issue At NCAA's Meeting

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Scholarship legislation will be one of the top issues before the 61st annual convention of the National Collegiate Athletic Association at Houston, Jan. 9-11.

Officials of the NCAA said yesterday no fewer than six amendments to controversial academic standard of 1.6, based on a 4.0 point grading scale, is expected to be offered by various member organizations.

That by-law sets an academic minimum of 1.6 predictability for incoming students who wish to take part in intercollegiate athletics and requires that they maintain that standard for their schools to take part in NCAA championships and other certified events, such as post-season games.

A resolution by the Atlantic Coast Conference would add regular season football television participation to the list of NCAA events for which members not in conformity with the legislation would be ineligible.

Other items to be before the convention include freshmen eligibility for varsity sports;

new proposals for pre-season football practice and starting dates; limitation on the number of bowl games; a down-the-line declaration of College Division or University division competitive status; establishment of a college division gymnastics championship and limitation of grants - in - aid to a one - year term.

More than 3,000 officials, administrators and coaches are expected for meetings before, during and after the three-day general session. The schedule includes:

- American Association of College Basketball Coaches, Jan. 5-8;
- U.S. Track Coaches Association, Jan. 6-7;
- NCAA Council, executive committee; college, legislative, professional reputations, extra events, television, public relations and other committees, Jan. 8;
- College Athletic Business Managers Association, Jan. 9-11;
- College Sports Information Directors of America, Jan. 9;
- American Football Coaches Association rules committee and trustees, Jan. 9;
- American Football Coaches Association general sessions, Jan. 10-11 and NCAA Council, Jan. 12.

Super Bowl's Promoters May Hustle for Sellout

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A super debate is developing over whether the Super Bowl football game, first clash between the champions of the American and National Football leagues, will be a super success.

Pro football commissioner Pete Rozelle clung yesterday to his prediction that the clash between the Green Bay Packers of the NFL and the Kansas City Chiefs would sell out the 93,000 seats in Memorial Coliseum.

The stadium's general manager, Bill Nicholas, regarded as an expert in the art of gate estimating, agreed with Rozelle.

There were others less optimistic, however, and there was no doubt that thousands of fans are irked over the television blackout in this vast metropolitan area.

There was also grumbling that choice seats would not be available for such patrons as the Los Angeles Rams' regular customers.

Out-of-town and state applications for tickets undoubtedly have been heavy but local reaction to the ticket scale—$12, $10 and $6—has been anything but happy.

If a busy telephone switchboard is any indication, fans' interest has quickened in the past two days.

"We were flooded with calls all day Tuesday when we opened after the holidays and it's been the same today," Nicholas said. The Coliseum is

Scott, Whitaker CBS-TV Team For Super Bowl

NEW YORK (AP) — Ray Scott and Jack Whitaker will split the play-by-play work on the Columbia Broadcasting System's television coverage of the Jan. 15 Super Bowl Game between the Green Bay Packers and the Kansas City Chiefs at the Los Angeles Coliseum.

Scott handles the Packers' regular season games and Whitaker works the New York Giants' games and several network shows.

Frank Gifford, former star halfback with the Giants, will be the analyst and Pat Summerall, former field goal kicker with the Giants, will handle the pregame and post-game shows.

The game will start at 4 p.m., EST. The pre-game show at 3:30 p.m. EST.

For the first time in sports history, the game will be covered by two networks. The National Broadcasting Company already had announced that Curt Gowdy and Paul Christman would be its announcers.

The main base of ticket selling operations.

"We sold some 26,000 tickets last week even before the fans knew which teams would be in the game," said Rozelle.

Identity of the opponents was not decided until last Sunday when Green Bay defeated the Dallas Cowboys and Kansas City routed Buffalo.

The 26,000 included options to buy for Ram fans. An additional 20,000 tickets are on consignment to the 13 clubs in the two leagues and the commissioner's office.

"We firmly believe the game will be a sellout," Rozelle continued. "Green Bay is certainly well known here and you can't under-estimate the appeal the Kansas City Chiefs have here with Mike Garrett."

He referred to the Chiefs' rookie halfback who dazzled fans when he played for Southern California's Trojans and earned All-America and Heisman Trophy honors as a senior in 1965.

Rozelle is no stranger to the sports scene here. He was raised in nearby Compton and was first publicity director and then general manager of the Rams before stepping into the commissioner's chair.

Rozelle defended the television blackout. He argued that the telecast of a World Series in baseball is no parallel because fans have a home team to root for and watch in person, whereas in the Super Bowl, two non-resident teams are involved.

He said there has been no decision about the site or sites of future Super Bowl games.

The Kansas City squad, meanwhile, arrived at nearby Long Beach to continue preparations for the contest. The weather was sunny and warm. The Chiefs are quartered at the Edgewater Inn and will work out at Veteran Stadium.

The Packers are staying in Green Bay until next Sunday when they plan to fly to Santa Barbara, Calif., for further training.

During the day Rozelle gave a deposition to attorney Arthur Toll, who is representing businessman Alan Minter in a federal court suit to prevent the National Broadcasting Co., and Columbia Broadcasting system from blacking out the telecast here.

Rozelle, with the attorney's permission, sat in for Daniel F. Reeves, president of the Rams, who had been subpoenaed to testify. Toll said he had hoped to subpoena both men but could not reach Reeves in time for the deposition.

"It was very necessary for us to obtain statements for the record," Toll said. "We now have these statements and we will properly present them to the court at the hearing Friday."

U.S. District Judge William Grey is scheduled to hear the case.

Rozelle, who had no comment about the case nor his testimony, was accompanied by Arthur Modell, president of the Cleveland Browns, and two attorneys representing the commissioner.

'KNEEDS' MORE REST

Joe Namath, the fastest gun at New York's Lenox Hill Hospital, relaxes with a play dart gun while waiting for the Doctor's OK to return to his downtown apartment after a successful knee operation. The Jet quarterback is recovering quickly, but worries about his total recuperation. See story below.

Namath Recovering, Worried about Knee

By MIKE RATHET Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Namath's celebrated right knee is running ahead of schedule, but the New York Jets' quarterback admitted yesterday that he still has no idea what will happen when he steps out on a football field for the first time.

"I'm confident — it's been feeling great," said Namath as he met with the press for the first time since last week's operation. "It's coming along faster than expected and it looks good — but you don't really know until you start running."

And that doubt still seems to linger with Namath as he props his $400,000 leg up on a pillow in his $79-a-day room at a Park Avenue hospital.

"The leg was giving me too much trouble — too much bother," Namath said, explaining why he underwent the operation. "I'd like to move around better, but not only on the field — in everyday life."

"I had to be careful stepping off a curb; getting out of a car I'd have to take my time straightening up. The doctor said it would be better — so we had it done."

"But there's the risk. It might not bend far enough and then it'd be pretty difficult for me to play."

That apparently has occupied most of Namath's thoughts since a tendon transfer was performed just a week ago, although there are plenty of distractions in his room.

Despite the fact that the room has "only a black and white television, a single bed and no llama rug," Namath probably doesn't want for things to occupy his time.

He can open the rest of the big box of cards and letters from well wishers, nibble on some mutton sent by a friend or test his skill at the game that sits on his window sill — Pro Quarterback.

But yesterday he gave a progress report on the knee.

"This operation was more involved than the last one — and it feels 30 times better," Namath said. "But I'm not supposed to move it yet, so I can't tell anything. But it should give me more mobility, and stability, and I should be able to do more things with it."

"You don't run unless you have to, but if it's third and eight in a passing situation and there's an opening to make the first down running — well, if the opening's there I'd like to cut out there and get it."

"Right now the way the doctor figures things I might be able to start working in March instead of April, and I'm out of here Saturday."

So Saturday Joe Namath will pack up his gear, slip the foot without the cast into the white boot with black JWN initials on it, pick up the crutches that lean against the window sill and hobble home to his color television, circular bed and llama rug.

But he'll still have some doubts.

Collins is the first assistant hired for Dooley's staff. Dooley said his specific assignment will be announced when the new staff is complete.

Notre Dame Voted No. 1 By Scribes

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Notre Dame was selected yesterday as the top college football team in the nation by the Football Writers Association of America.

Arnie Burdick, executive sports editor of the Syracuse Herald-Journal and president of the association, said Coach Ara Parseghian's team narrowly edged Michigan State and Alabama in the balloting by a five-man panel.

Notre Dame, on the basis of five points for first, three for second and one for third, totaled 18 points.

Michigan State, which received only one first-place vote to two each for Notre Dame and Alabama, had 14 points, one more than Alabama.

Panel members were Jerry Nason of the Boston Globe, Fred Russell of The Nashville Banner, Si Burdick of The Dayton News, Jack Murphy of The San Diego Union and Muayr White of The Des Moines Register.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Defensive line Coach Jack Patena and Los Angeles Rams came to a parting of the ways yesterday.

The 33-year-old former University of Oregon player, the only holdover from the coaching regime of Harlan Sware, said he was leaving "to get the opportunity to better further my coaching career."

Section II

If height means anything in Section II it looks like the Dragons are in for a long year.

All of the other five teams in the loop have a definite size advantage over the Dragons.

Meadville leads the way with three players over 6-4. Corry has one 6-4 and three other starters over 6-0. Franklin has a pair of strong 6-2 frontcourtters. Titusville has three that go 6-3 or better. Warren has two starters over 6-0, they are 6-3 Scott Hunter and 6-0 Bob Hunter.

Last year Meadville went through the league without a loss, next best was Franklin with a 7-3 mark. Oil City was third at 6-4. Titusville was 4-6, Warren 3-7 and Corry 0-10.

A rundown on the league and each team's expected finish is as follows.

MEADVILLE—The Bulldogs have bumped off some pretty good teams on the pre-league slate. They own wins over Cleveland John Adams, Kittanning and Erie Cathedral Prep. Losses have come at the hands of WPIAL powers Sharon and New Castle. Tuesday night the Bulldogs were tripped by Erie East.

The perennial Section kingpins are led by 6-7 all-state candidate Chris Buchanan. He is averaging over 20 points a game. Other starters include 6-5 Stan Zadrozny, a junior who has been coming along well. John Hendricks at 6-4 rounds out the frontcourt performers for the charges of coach Norm Sundstrom. In the backcourt Floyd McClure, at 5-7, has been in double figures consistently. Scott Eves has been the other starter. Expected to lend a hand soon is Jim Kulczycki, a 5-10 sharpshooter who has been sidelined with a broken ankle.

OIL CITY—Coach Dick Russell says that with a few breaks and no injuries his team will finish near the top of the league. Taking him at his word, we'll put the Oilers second. They have four lettermen and good height in the starting lineup. Besides that they have a friendly home court on which they are hard to beat.

Starting for the Oilers have been Mike Rose, 6-1½, Ron Tarr, 6-0, Dan Fry, 6-1½ and Bob Hall at 5-9, all are lettermen. The other starter will be Glenn Cunningham at 5-10. All are seniors. Russell said that lack of speed may be the downfall of the team. He says that the scoring attack is balanced with Rose and Fry the leaders. So far this season the Oilers have split with McDowell, a team that trounced Warren. In a game just before the holidays the Oilers were walloped by Sharon.

FRANKLIN—According to coach Bob Irons the Knights have been struggling through a relatively easy pre-league slate. They have five lettermen but they haven't been able to get the offense in high gear, as yet.

Frontcourt starters for the Knights will be Don Walters, a two year letterman who stands 6-2 and weighs 180. Joining him is junior letterman Tim Law, also 6-2. Both are good rebounders with Walters the better scorer. Dave Bierbach leads the backcourt talent. He is a 5-10 senior letterman, who—as in football—is the "take charge" man. Rocky Burger and Rich Hancox at 5-8 and 5-9 respectively round out the starting five for the Knights. Franklin has dropped games to Erie East and Erie Academy, a pair of teams that have also clipped the Dragons.

WARREN—The Dragons manage to move up a notch in the league standings. In order to do this they are going to have to get a good effort out of Scott Hunter every game, also Bob Hunter and Steve Tundel are going to have to play steady ball. The problem so far for the Dragons has been defense. They have been allowing over 75 points a game.

At 6-3 Scott Hunter has to carry most of the offense and do alot of the rebounding. Tundel has been helping on the boards but he is only 5-11. Bob Hunter, a definite scoring threat has to start lending a hand on defense. The backcourt pair of Dan O'Neil, 5-10, and Mike Hesch, 5-5, are sufficient on offense and hustle on defense. In order for the Dragons to move a little higher O'Neil and Hesch will have to start scoring more.

CORRY—The Beavers could be the real darkhorse in the league. They have gone through an easy pre-league slate, rolling to a 9-2 mark. The only competition they have had has come from Erie East, who had to go triple overtime to beat the Beavers, and Strong Vincent, who broke open a class game in the final period.

Coach Dick Fox has a lot of height and experience to go with it. Pete McLaughlin at 6-2 was the leading scorer last year. Back with him are the second and third scorers of a year ago. They are Duane Edwards, 6-0, and Carl Hillstrom, 6-4. Tom Xander and Jack Hammond at 6-1 and 5-7 round out the starters. The Beavers have a lot of height on the bench in Fred Schwab, 6-4, Terry Upperman, 6-2, and Gary Blynt, 6-1, all ready to lend a hand.

TITUSVILLE—Though the Rockets have a lot of height and experience they have yet to find a winning combination. They went right to the wire in a game with Youngsville but have beaten Brookville handily. On a given night they will be able to give the best of the league teams a rough battle.

Leading the way will be three 6-3 frontcourtters, John Girts, Martin Patterson and Craig Cochran all have the ability to score and hit the boards. Early season problem has been for them all to do on the same night. Randy Newson and Steve Hampton at 5-11 and 5-7 have been seeing a lot of action in the backcourt. Patterson and Newson have been doing the brunt of the Rockets scoring. If coach Jim Kockler gets his big three working together the Rockets might be able to jump about three places in the league standings.

Tribe Swaps Landis To Astros for Maye

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) —

The Cleveland Indians obtained Lee Maye and Jim Landis went to the Houston Astros yesterday in an exchange of 32-year-old outfielders by the two clubs.

Three minor league players also were involved in the deal. Houston sent catcher Ken Rizer from its Oklahoma City farm club to the Indians' Portland farm team in exchange for pitcher Jim Weaver and catcher Doc Edwards.

The trade was completed after Maye and Landis had been waived out of the National and American Leagues, respectively, as the interleague trading deadline was Dec. 15.

Landis left the Indians after Ike Frosh Lose To West Forest

The Eisenhower Junior High School lost its third straight game yesterday as they fell on the homecourt to the West Forest Junior High, 39-16.

High scorer for the Littlest Knights was Ken Burford with half of the team's total, eight points.

The Littlest Indians were led by Dave Ellis with 12 points. Next game for the Knights will be at Spartansburg next Wednesday.

The score by quarters is as follows. Eisenhower 4 0 6 6—16 W. Forest JH 9 14 6 10—39 only one season with the club, in which he batted .222 in 82 games. The Indians obtained him from the Kansas City Athletics for catcher Phil Roof.

Maye, who bats left-handed, had a 2.88 batting average in 115 games with the Astros last season. His best average in the majors was .304 with the Milwaukee Braves in 1964, when he also led the National League in doubles with 44.

He has been in professional baseball since 1954 and started his major league career with the Braves in 1959. Milwaukee traded him to the Astros in May, 1965, for pitcher Ken Johnson.

The Indians had obtained Landis with the hope that he would provide enough competition to keep centerfielder Vic Davallino at his best, both at the plate and in the field. However, leg trouble kept Landis from being available for regular duty.

In comparing Maye and Landis, Indians' general manager Gabe Paul said:

"Maye is more of an offensive outfielder as well as a good runner. He is a line drive hitter. We think he will be valuable to us."

76ers Defeat Bulls For 11th Straight

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia 76ers rolled to their 11th straight victory by defeating the Chicago Bulls 136-115 in a National Basketball Association game last night.

Bill Cunningham scored 27 points to lead the NBA's Eastern Division leaders to their 22nd victory in the last 23 games. It was the 32nd straight triumph on the home court, counting the last 14 of last season.

Will Chamberlain grabbed 25 rebounds and handed off nine assists while scoring 21 points on eight field goals and five fouls for the 76ers.

The Bulls' top scorers were Bob Boozer and Irvin Mueller with 20 each.

Philadelphia took the lead in the first five seconds when Chamberlain batted the tapoff to Hal Greer under the 76ers' basket for a quick two points. They led 12-2 and 31-19 for their biggest first period bulge before the Bulls narrowed the advantage. At the end of the first period Philadelphia held a 37-30 lead. They stretched it to 64-33 at halftime.

Sacrifice Bunt Rule Changed In Major Leaps

NEW YORK (AP) — Professional ball players who are thrown out while advancing runners by bunting with their teams trailing by a wide margin will no longer be credited with an automatic sacrifice, baseball's Scoring Rules Committee announced yesterday.

"It's been obvious that some players have been bunting for a base hit when their teams are losing, say 8 or 9-1," said Charles Segar, committee chairman.

Segar said the rule, which involves instructions to official scorers, has been changed to read "Do not score a sacrifice bunt when in the judgment of the scorer the batter is bunting for a base hit and not solely for the purpose of advancing a runner or runners. In that event charge the batter with a time at bat."

In another change, a runner who is trapped off base but reaches the next base without the aid of an error will be credited with a stolen base even if there was no intent to steal.

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Two new minor league working agreement were announced yesterday by The Atlanta Braves.

Jamestown, N.Y., in the Class A New York — Pennsylvania League replaces Yakima, Wash., and will be in a league which operates for two months.

Lexington, N.C., in the Class A Western Carolinas League will be composed of players from seven major league organizations. The Braves will be the coordinating club and will have five players on the team.

Other Braves farm teams are Richmond, Va., Austin, Tex., Kinston, N.C., and West Palm Beach and Sarasota, Fla.

TMO Team Falls to Sportsmen

JAMESTOWN — The Warren Times Mirror and Observer dropped a 66-54 decision to the Sportsmen's Grill here last night in the Taft Recreation League.

The loss evened the TMO team's record at 2-2.

Warren fell behind by nine at the intermission, 32-23. The second half saw the Sportsmen five outscore Warren 34-31.

Leading scorer for Warren was Ron Isackson with 18 points. He had six field goals and six for six from the 15-foot stripe. Jim McElrath scored 15 for the TMO and Bob Winterburn tallied 10.

The winners put four men in double figures. Leading the way was Vere Lindquist with 20 points. George Parsons tallied 13 while Jamestown High School coach, Dutch Leonard, and Dick Fished each tallied 12.

The TMO will be back in action next Monday.

Suspended Duke Players May Return on Saturday

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — Some of the nine players Coach Vic Bubas suspended Tuesday night for breaking training "possibly" will be allowed to play in Duke's Saturday game against third-ranked North Carolina.

The nine players, including four starters on the varsity squad, were suspended shortly before Duke's home game with Penn State, Duke won the game 89-84 as Bob Verga, the only starter in the lineup, scored 38 points.

Coach Bubas said yesterday some of the players might be invited to attend practice sessions this week.

"It's going to depend on our meetings with the boys," he said. Asked if any of the nine would be allowed to play in Duke's next game — at home against North Carolina — Saturday afternoon, Bubas said: "Possibly."

Bubas stood by his decision not to specify what training regulations were violated by the players. It was speculated that the infractions occurred last weekend, possibly New Year's Eve.

"Temporarily suspended" were junior Mike Lewis, senior Bob Riedy, sophomore Dave Golden and junior Tim Kolodziej — all starters.

Also suspended were reserves junior Tony Barone, junior Warren Chapman, junior Ron Wendelin, junior Joe Kennedy and sophomore Jim Micard.

After announcing the suspensions, Bubas said: "It's a privilege, not a right to play college basketball."

Bubas, in his eight season as Duke coach, noted that he did not make up his mind until the day of the game, although he said the decision would have been the same regardless of the team's opponent.

"A position of leadership is a lonely one," he said. "And I have been lonely for the last couple of days."

Duke, having one of its worst years in several seasons, will carry a 5-4 record into Saturday's game with North Carolina. The Blue Devils are 1-0 in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Courts Death Just Once Too Often in Speed Test

By GRANVILLE J. WATTS CONISTON, England (AP) — Donald Campbell, the man who couldn't resist going faster, crashed to his death yesterday in a jet speedboat.

The 45-year-old speed king almost had completed the measured course on Lake Coniston and was within seconds of shattering his own world water speed record of 276.33 miles an hour when he was killed.

His hydroplane, Bluebird, jumped 60 feet out of the water at 310 miles an hour, somersaulted and then exploded before sinking in 120 feet of water. He was strapped inside.

Frogmen went down almost immediately but hours later his body had not been recovered.

The disaster ended a recurring gamble with death with which the Campbells—father and son—had thrilled the world for more than 40 years. His father, the late Sir Malcolm Campbell, was the fastest man in the world on both land and water between the two World Wars. He died in bed in 1948.

Friends said Campbell, who was a bit of a mystic and given to superstition, had a premonition of his death over a game of cards Tuesday night.

He was playing a Russian form of solitaire and turned up the ace of spades followed by the queen of the same suit.

Campbell scowled and told his friends: "Mary Queen of Scots turned up the same combination of cards, and from it she knew she was going to be beheaded."

"I know one of my family is going to get the chop (be killed). I pray it will not be me."

Official observers and small knots of spectators on the banks of the lake saw him crash.

Campbell completed one length of the course at 297 m.p.h. He turned and skimmed even faster over the return journey.

Then his voice came dramatically over the radio: "She's tramping. I can't see much. She's going, she's going."

"Tramping" was Campbell's word for bouncing.

Andrew Brown, one of the team of observers, said: "He had done about three-quarters of the return trip when Bluebird suddenly seemed to do a couple of jumps and then a complete somersault."

"She sank immediately. I think he must either have hit something or a stretch of ruffled water, although the surface appeared like glass."

Another witness said the boat jumped 60 feet into the air. Its engine was still screaming. Then it disappeared into a lather of foam.

Rescuers found Campbell's oxygen mask and bits of his clothing.

Campbell had set himself a two-fold target—to travel at 400 miles an hour on land and 300 miles an hour on water. He told his wife Tonia, a Belgian-born cabaret singer, that when he had achieved that he would retire.

The first part of the dream came true in 1964. He clocked a record 403.1 m.p.h. in his car, also named Bluebird, on the Salt Flats at Lake Eyre, Australia.

Campbell had been tuning up his jet speedboat for some weeks on Lake Coniston. But bad weather had delayed his attempt on the water record.

Campbell, short and dark along the lines of Napoleon, appeared to know no fear. But he often said that this wasn't true.

In 1960 his jet car somersaulted at 350 mph on the Salt Flats of Utah and Campbell, almost nonchalantly, walked away from the wreckage with nothing worse than a hairline fracture of the skull.

But later he told a reporter "I get scared when I realize how close to death we always are. While I am sitting here talking, I can get frightened thinking that I might have a heart attack or get lung cancer."

Market Shades Home in Gra-Y

Market Street nipped Home, 10-8 in a low-scoring Gra-Y League basketball game yesterday.

With the game tied 8-8 and 30 seconds remaining in the final period, Timmy Trowbridge of the downtowners stole a Home Street pass and dribbled the length of the floor to layup the winning bucket.

Trowbridge led all scorers in the well-played, defensive contest with six points. Kotraba's four was high for Home.

Record Bell Phones In State During 1966

A record 5,274,000 Bell telephones were in service in Pennsylvania during 1966, according to R. M. Wachob, president of the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania.

This, he said, marks an increase of 225,500 during the year. The daily average of local and long distance calls made by customers rose by 1,000,000 over the previous year to a new high of 22,200,000.

The 4.5 per cent rate of growth in the number of telephones, higher in 1966 than in recent years, is expected to decrease only slightly this year ahead.

Construction expenditures of $158.8 million will be required in 1967 to keep pace with customer demands for communications services. This represents an increase of more than $13 million over 1966 expenditures of $145.7 million. The new year will be the 12th consecutive year in which company construction outlays will have exceeded $100 million, reported the telephone company.

During the past year, the telephone company's payroll and purchases channeled a total of $337 million into the economy of Pennsylvania.

The 1967 payroll of $227 million, highest in the company's history, will be further increased during the coming year as a result of wage adjustments which became effective recently.

During the year, the Bell Company and Western Electric Company, manufacturing and supply unit of the nationwide Bell System, bought $160 million worth of goods and services from 16,900 Pennsylvania suppliers. The companies' purchases in the state are expected to be in the same range in 1967.

The company's supplemental program of service improvement, initiated in 1964, was carried forward.

Net savings of nearly $2 million a year were provided by 1966 phases of the three-and-a-half year program. Service was made more valuable by extensions of local calling areas which eliminated toll charges of an estimated 7,700,000 calls a year and a variety of service and rate improvements in outlying areas of various exchanges.

The 1964 program to date has provided annual net savings of nearly $6.5 million for Pennsylvania customers. Total customer benefits resulting from the program will amount to nearly $16 million on an annual basis when the program is completed in 1967.

A second major service improvement program offered customers increased message unit allotments and lower charges per message unit, new optional flat rates for key telephone arrangements, a new class of extended flat rate service for certain business customers, and reductions in tariff charges for amplifying equipment for customers with impaired hearing. Annual net savings provided by this program are estimated at $4,675,000.

Customers are saving an estimated $5,800,000 a year as a result of the two 1965 cuts in interstate and intrastate long distance rates.

In December the company proposed another $3,500,000 rate reduction package, which will become effective in February. This will be the fourth reduction in less than three years.

Under the proposal, charges will be lowered for color sets, residence extension telephones and a wide variety of supplemental equipment items. Wide area telephone service will be expanded to include inward service arrangements.

The rate reduction and service improvement programs will by the end of 1967, mean benefits of almost $30,000,000 to subscribers.

May Enlarge Ways, Means Committee

By JOHN D. MORRIS
(C) N. Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON—Both New York and Texas will retain seats on the House Ways and Means Committee if a plan favored by Democratic leaders is approved at a party caucus next Monday.

The 25-member committee, widely regarded as the most important in the House, would be enlarged to 72 members under the proposal. This would create an additional Democratic seat to avert a battle between New York and Texas Democrats over a single vacancy that now exists.

Republicans would also be entitled to one more seat than they would have if the roster were maintained at 25 members.

One effect, according to critics of such a settlement, would be to give conservatives firm control of the committee, which handles legislation on taxes, international trade, social security and other major issues.

For that reason, staff opposition is expected from leaders of the Democratic study group, an organization of House liberals.

However, according to well-posted sources, soundings by Speaker John W. McCormack of Massachusetts and other party leaders indicated that enough liberals would support the plan to assure its adoption.

In the 89th Congress, which expired Tuesday, the committee had 17 Democrats and 8 Republicans. The division in the new Congress, under earlier plans, was to have been 15 to 10, reflecting Republican gains of 47 House seats in November.

The enlargement proposal calls for a division of 16 Democrats and 11 Republicans in the 90th Congress, which convenes Tuesday.

Teamsters to Seek Portable Pensions

By NEIL GILBRIDE
HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa announced plans yesterday to seek portable pensions for one million or more Teamster members so they won't lose pension rights in moving from job to job.

Hoffa, conducting business-as-usual despite an impending prison sentence, said the pension plan would be "a very strong inducement" to organizing new members into the union which now numbers nearly 1.8 million.

Hoffa said the union's Executive Board approved the plan which would allow union members to carry pension credits from one job to another. The proposal goes back to local unions to be worked out with employers.

Hoffa said it would take about three years to put the plan into effect covering about one million of the union's members now covered by pension funds totaling $1 billion.

Some Teamsters in various industries can now take their pension credits with them to a new job.

The plan aims at giving that right to all workers covered by pension plans in the trucking, milk, bread, beer, construction and other industries.

Hoffa said a typical Teamster may switch jobs five or six times in his life and if he loses pension rights he has built up in one industry, it is often difficult to build up enough credits in a new job for a pension.

Hoffa said the 15-man Teamsters executive board also had made final plans for national trucking negotiations opening in Washington on Jan. 17.

Mrs. Powell Seldom Saw Monthly Payroll Checks

By JOHN BECKLER
WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Adam Clayton Powell may have been on her husband's payroll during the last session of Congress, but a House report showed yesterday she rarely saw her paycheck.

Testimony made public by the House Administration Committee disclosed that 16 of her 19 monthly paychecks wound up in Powell's bank account in the House of Representatives.

And Mrs. Powell, who lives in Puerto Rico, said she hadn't seen or heard from Powell for more than a year and didn't really know whether she got any of the $20,578 a year listed as her salary.

Mrs. Powell was separated from the payroll Tuesday by order by the committee, which held that she violated the law that requires a congressional aide to work either in Washington or the home state of her employer.

Her disclosure about the paychecks was contained in a report by the House Administration Committee on its investigation of Powell's expenditures as chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee.

The report, copies of which are being sent to all House members, is expected to provide ammunition for efforts being made by some members to deprive Powell of his chairmanship.

Besides detailing the argument over paying Mrs. Powell, the report contains testimony from staff members of Powell's committee that the New York Democrat and his secretary, onetime Ohio beauty queen Corrine A. Huff, took numerous trips together. The trips, paid for as official committee business, usually were taken under the names of other staffers, it was testified.

Louise M. Dargans, chief clerk of Powell's committee, testified that at Powell's direction she endorsed the names Y. Marjorie Flores—as Mrs. Powell was carried on the House payroll — and Adam C. Powell on Mrs. Powell's checks and deposited them in Powell's account.

Mrs. Powell never appeared as a witness, but the committee had the Secret Service question her last October when it was reported she was complaining about not getting her checks.

"Mrs. Powell said she had not authorized the endorsements," reported the Secret Service, "that to the best of her knowledge she at no time had given her husband express or implied authority to negotiate the checks."

Ruby's Funeral Services Tomorrow in Private

By EARL AYKROID
CHICAGO (AP) — Jack Ruby will be buried tomorrow morning after private funeral rites. The internment of Ruby, 35, who died in Dallas on Tuesday, enmeshed in the complex aftermath of President John F. Kennedy's assassination, will follow a Jewish service attended only by members of his family and a few close friends. The burial will be in the family plot in Westlawn Cemetery.

A pistol shot which killed Lee Harvey Oswald in a basement corridor of the Dallas City Jail on Nov. 24, 1963, two days after Kennedy was slain, left Ruby a notorious prisoner, cancer and a blood clot ended his life in Parkland Hospital. The president and Oswald, who was accused of assassinating him, died in the same hospital.

Ruby's body was flown back to Chicago on Tuesday night,

Senators Plan St. Lawrence Toll Struggle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two senators said yesterday they will fight a proposed 10 per cent toll in St. Lawrence Seaway tolls.

Sens. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., and William Proxmire, D-Wis., criticized a report by the Seaway Development Corp. which suggested the increase and recommended negotiations with Canada on seaway problems.

The senators said Seaway policy discriminates against the Midwest.

"Negotiations should certainly be undertaken, but not within the narrow limits accepted by the seaway corporation," they said in a joint statement.

"As the corporation's report recognizes," it added, "there are more values to the seaway than its profits, and more solutions than a simple toll increase."

Bills that would make toll increases unnecessary by revamping the seaway's financial structure have been sponsored by Mondale and Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis.

The two said they plan to ask the Great Lakes Conference of senators and House members from Great Lake states to join them in recommending that negotiations between the United States and Canada be expanded to include changes in the basic seaway law which would eliminate the need for a toll increase.

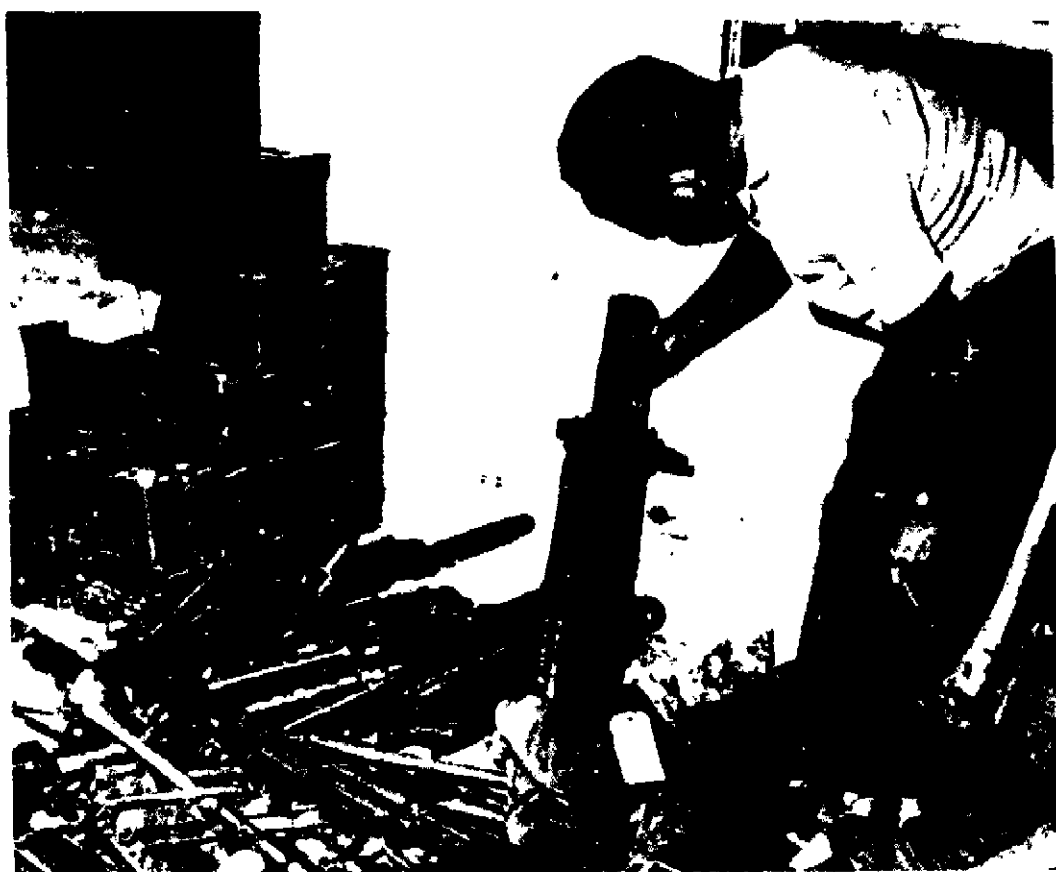

The two nations constructed the waterway.

Vatican Outlaws 'Jazz' Masses, Other Extremes

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
ROME — Pope Paul VI and two Vatican offices joined yesterday in outlawing so-called "jazz" masses and other extreme distortions of liturgy reported as experiments from various countries, notably in Northern Europe.

Targets of these admonitions included "family eucharistic banquets" celebrated in private homes, "strange and arbitrary rites," accompanied often by "music of a totally profane and worldly character."

These and other modifications were identified as "almost incredible" abuses of the degree of experimentation in liturgy sanctioned by the reforms of the Ecumenical Council Vatican II. Illustrating them in a news conference yesterday, Rev. Annibale Bugnini, undersecretary of the sacred congregation of rites, cited particularly a recent article in the French Weekly Paris Match depicting some of the more extreme French and Dutch experiments.

South Vietnam to Release Some Prisoners for New Years

By ROBERT D. OHMAN
SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — Some North Vietnamese prisoners of war will be freed at the start of the lunar new year and given the choice of returning home or staying in South Vietnam, Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's government announced yesterday.

Vietnamese this year celebrate the holiday, called Tet, Feb. 8 to 12. The allies and the Viet Cong have proposed a truce during that period. The government statement, issued by the Foreign Ministry, failed to say how many prisoners would be turned loose.

Like a similar gesture last January, when 24 Hanoi regulars were freed at the border and three decided to stay in the south, the government's action was not expected to affect the status of U.S. pilots imprisoned in North Vietnam.

Hanoi has repeatedly shouldered American overtures to obtain the release of the captives among 364 fliers listed as of late November as detained or missing from flights above the border. Seventy of these have been confirmed by the Pentagon as in North Vietnamese hands.

The Foreign Ministry statement was one in a number of moves by both sides on diplomatic and psychological fronts.

No major action was reported in the ground war.

The Viet Cong earlier in the day released two American construction men and a Philippine-born woman they seized more than six months ago.

Guerrilla terrorism persisted.

Among three men killed was a national policeman who, police said, was seized by a terror squad as he rode his motor scooter home late Tuesday. The guerrillas hammered a two-inch nail into his forehead, then shot him in the face and throat.

U.S. and Vietnamese officials said Red terrorists killed 30 Vietnamese civilians, wounded

68 and kidnapped 44 in the week ending last Saturday.

Afield there were only a few skirmishes between Communist troops and allied forces yesterday.

Navy pilots who cruised along the North Vietnamese coast Tuesday reported they destroyed or damaged 111 supply barges and junks.

Blast Furnace Mishap Claims 2 Steelworkers

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A blast furnace broke open yesterday in a nearby Braddock steel mill and hot materials gushed out, killing two workers and injuring another.

Killed at U.S. Steel Corp.'s Edgar Thomson Works were Zebede Taylor, 54, and Lindsey Troupe, 64, both of Pittsburgh.

Thomas Walker, 43, of Braddock was admitted to Braddock General Hospital in serious condition with burns.

A company spokesman said, "A rupture in the (No. 5) furnace caused hot materials to spray the cast house floor where the men were working. The cause of the accident has not been determined and an investigation is under way."

Liberal Group Seeks Tax Hike, Guaranteed Income

By MARJORIE HUNTER
(c) N.Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON—The Americans for Democratic Action called yesterday for a tax increase to finance broad social programs, including what it called a guaranteed living income for all.
Coupling legislative proposals with criticism of the Johnson administration, the militantly liberal political action group said:
"It is a sad commentary on the real substance of the Great Society when programs for war and space are adequately funded while the war on poverty is starved."
In unveiling its legislative program at this time, the A.D.A. apparently hoped to have at least a token influence on President Johnson's decisions on how much to seek for domestic programs.
The following were among the A.D.A. proposals:
+ Prepaid health insurance for all, apparently to be financed under Social Security. Such a program is now limited to persons 65 years of age and over.
+ Free public education from pre-school through four years of college or other post-high-school training.
+ Creation of 5 million public service jobs in federal, state and local governments and non-profit private institutions.
+ Stronger civil rights legislation, including open housing and some method of coping with de facto segregation.
+ Grants to help needy families either rent or purchase "decent, safe and sanitary housing."
+ Guaranteed "living income" for those who work and those who cannot work.
+ Expansion of the community action phase of the anti-poverty program, with more of the poor involved in policy-making and employed in the program.
The A.D.A. estimated the cost of the proposals at about $10 billion a year.
This sum could be raised, the group suggested, by increasing corporation taxes and income taxes for individuals and families making $5,000 a year or more.

Red China Party Purge Continues

By JOHN RODERICK
TOKYO (AP) — Mao Tse-tung's actress wife has spearheaded an attack on President Liu Shaochi aimed at undermining Liu's main support in the party-controlled labor federation, Japanese press reports from Peking said yesterday.
The reports indicated the struggle for power was crystallizing. The Liu faction, evidently with considerable strength among the workers, appeared to be lined up against the faction headed by Defense Minister Lin Piao which, with Mao's blessing, has called on hundreds of thousands of teen-age Red Guards for support.
There have been numerous reports of clashes between Red Guards and workers throughout China that have cost scores of lives.
Correspondents of the Tokyo papers Yomiuri and Sankei said wall posters reported Chian Ching, Mao's wife, led the attack on Liu and the All-China Federation of Trade Unions at a rally Dec. 26.
"Liu may be state president," the posters quoted her as saying, "but we must be on our guard against what kind of a president he is."
Then she denounced the federation of trade unions for following "a bourgeois reactionary line."

Teen Policeman Held in Death Of Taxi Driver

McKEESPORT, Pa. (AP)—A teenage auxiliary policeman was charged yesterday with robbing and killing a McKeesport taxi driver.
Lawrence Dolney, 18, of McKeesport was accused in the shooting Tuesday of Robert Goring, 46. He was found slumped over in his cab with a head wound and died about 10 hours later.
Dolney pleaded innocent to charges of murder, armed robbery and violating the firearms act.
A police officer testified a spent bullet found in Goring's cab was fired from a .32 caliber pistol found in Dolney's home.
Police said Dolney had notified officers about the wounded cab driver.

Warren Commission, Bar Scored by Press Association

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Newspaper Publishers Association said yesterday, "The people's right to a free press which inherently embodies the right of the people to know is one of our most fundamental rights, and neither the press nor the bar has the right to sit down and bargain it away."
A report nearly two years in the making by a 12-man ANPA committee asserted it could not recommend "any covenants of control or restrictions on the accurate reporting of criminal matters or anything which would impair such reporting."
"The committee does recommend that the press stand at any time ready to discuss these problems with any appropriate individuals or groups," the report said. "Indeed, such positive action is a far greater force for the cause of justice and the general welfare of the people than the negative force of restrictions on basic freedoms."
"The freedom of the press is fundamental right and it cannot be abridged. The press shares with the bench, bar and law enforcement officials the responsibility for preservation of the American liberties embodied in the First and Sixth Amendments."

The First Amendment to the Constitution guarantees a free press. The Sixth Amendment assures a fair trial.
The ANPA study was spurred by the Warren Commission report on the assassination of President John F. Kennedy. The report charged the American press with "irresponsibility and lack of self-discipline."
Since the study began under the chairmanship of D. Tennant Bryan, publisher of the Richmond, Va., Times-Dispatch and News Leader, the question of fair trial reached a climax last spring with the freeing of Samuel H. Sheppard because the Supreme Court found that "virulent publicity" surrounded his first murder trial.
In throwing out the Cleveland osteopath's second-degree murder conviction, the court said it is up to judges "to take such steps by rule and regulation that will protect processes from prejudicial outside interferences." The movement to immunize juries from prejudicial news accounts gained momentum last October when an American Bar Association study group recommended that in pending criminal cases police, prosecutors and defense attorneys be barred from making public "potentially prejudicial information."

Since then, judges and police officers have been issuing new rules telling the press what crime information they will be permitted to have and what procedures they must follow in reporting arrests and trials.

3 from Northern Tier Appointed

Several persons from northwestern Pennsylvania are under consideration by the state senate for appointment to various state posts.
Governor Scranton submitted their appointments to the Senate for consideration Tuesday.
They were:
Mrs. Catherine B. Bauer of St. Marys to the Pennsylvania Drug, Device and Cosmetic Board; John F. Hartman Jr. of Erie to the State Board of Medical Education and Licensure; and Quentin R. Orlando of Erie to the State Board of Optical Examiners.
A former assistant superintendent of Warren schools, Stanton W. Stinkins of Uniontown, was appointed to the board of trustees of Somerset State Hospital.

Viet Government Plans End to French Schooling

By R. W. APPLE, JR.
(c) N.Y. Times News Service
SAIGON—The government decided Tuesday to close all French primary schools in South Vietnam next autumn and gradually to phase out French secondary schools.
The decision, taken at a cabinet meeting, was another indication of the growing nationalism of the regime headed by Premier Nguyen Cao Ky. Renewed anti-French feeling has been increasingly evident recently.
About 12,000 students, including 10,000 Vietnamese nationals, are enrolled in five secondary and eight primary schools operated by the French government. About 30,000 others study in 52 privately-owned schools using the French curriculum.
No new students will be admitted to the seven high schools in September or thereafter. The students now enrolled will be permitted to complete their courses, and the high schools will be closed when the last are graduated in 1973.
The education ministry, informed sources said, plans to propose new programs of studies with emphasis on French language and institutions, for the French schools that are closed.

Lebanon Valley College President Plans Retirement

ANNVILLE, Pa. (AP) — Dr. Frederic K. Miller, president of Lebanon Valley College for the past 16 years, will retire on or before June 30, the college announced yesterday.
Dr. Miller was elected to the presidency June 1, 1951. He had served a year as acting president.
He was graduated from Lebanon Valley College in 1929, and received a Master of Arts degree in 1931 and a Ph.D. in 1948 from the University of Pennsylvania.
Dr. Miller obtained an honorary Doctor of Letters degree from Muhlenberg in 1954. He is married to the former Marion Stover of Philadelphia. They have a daughter, Janet Louise of Atlanta.

Bids on 6-Mile Link of Rte. 6 Will Be Opened

The State Highways Department yesterday called for bids Jan. 27 on an estimated $7.25 million of construction in eight counties. The projects include modernization of a 6.57 mile stretch of Route 6 in Potter County from Potato City Hotel on Denton Hill eastward to near Walton at the junction of Route 449. A Clearfield County project includes widening and resurfacing of 1.46 miles of Route 222, South Second St., in Clearfield. In Dauphin county, bids will be opened for construction of 1.04 miles of four-lane divided highway on Route 22-322, River Road, north of Harrisburg, between the village of Hecton and Dauphin Borough. Meadville Pharmacy Is Robbed

MEADVILLE—An armed bandit robbed the Brock Pharmacy, corner of Arch and Water sts., at 8:55 p.m. Tuesday and escaped with an undisclosed amount of money, city police reported.

Charles Miller, of 235 Locust st., owner, and his wife, were at the cash register when an unmasked Negro walked in, pointed a partially hidden revolver at Miller and said "this is a stickup."

Police said the bandit reached over the cash register and removed a number of one, five and ten dollar bills and quarters.

The bandit was described as in his late 30's, about five feet, nine inches tall, weighing 165 pounds, dark brown complexion, wearing a black trench coat, brown hat with black band and a red shirt.

Cathcart Assumes Post With Soil Conservation

Lyle G. Cathcart this week assumed the post as director of the Warren County Soil Conservation Service office. He succeeds Ralph G. Eckert, who retired January 31, 1966 after sixteen years as Work Unit Conservationist here.

Cathcart has served for the past two years with the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture Soil Conservation Service at Indiana, Pa. Previously he was with the Service at Phillips, Wisconsin.

Before his graduation from University of Wisconsin, Stevens Point, Wis., Lyle Cathcart served four years with the Seabees, chiefly in Bermuda and Cuba. A native of Abbotford, Wis., he was graduated from Abbotford High School. He received his degree of Bachelor of Science from University of Wisconsin, Stevens Point, in Biology and Conservation.

Cathcart and his wife Marlene have one son, Daniel, aged 18 months. An outdoorsman, he is looking forward to enjoying the hunting and fishing for which Warren County is noted. He also enjoys boating. At Phillips he served three years as a Scoutmaster.

Concerning his work here as head of the Soil Conservation Service, working with the Warren County Soil and Water

LYLE G. CATHCART

Conservation District, Cathcart hopes to carry on the work with the same efficiency and excellence it has known under his predecessor, Ralph Eckert, and his staff.

"Soil erosion control is still our primary job," Cathcart explains, "and in recent years soil information has become more and more valuable to others besides farmers. We will make every effort to provide this information for all who want it."

Nursing Homes May Be Forced to Hike Rates

Patients in Nursing Homes in Warren County will be faced with increased rates if the homes apply for participation in the extended Medicare program.

Mrs. Hazel Barley, of the Barley Nursing Home in North Warren, said they had forwarded an application and that representatives of Medicare had inspected the facility. No approval, Mrs. Barley said, has yet been forthcoming although it was promised word would be received sometime between Christmas and New Year's.

Barley Nursing Home has, in the past, put forth every effort to keep the daily cost of care low in comparison with other homes in other areas. With the demands made, however, in acceptance of the Medicare program, Mrs. Barley stated, a rise in rates must be expected.

The nursing home owner pointed out that she has arrived at no definite conclusion to participate in Medicare, noting that some of those who have been paying $10 a day and who have been at the home for several years, are not eligible for Medicare. A rate raise would effect a hardship on these people.

Mrs. Barley said the government, under Medicare, can come in and inspect books at any time, so those operating nursing homes, even if they could afford to, may not charge the $14 daily rate required by Medicare to those in the program, and a lower rate to those not.

Government requirements that apply to nursing homes are costly. At the present time, Barley's has two registered nurses for 37 people in addition to additional nursing help. Under Medicare, it would be necessary to add more RN's and to pay more doctors for consultation.

Police Thwart Club Burglary, Bonds Stolen

JAMESTOWN, N.Y.—Jamestown detectives early Monday thwarted a burglary at the Moose Club, but thieves earlier in the weekend stole a metal cabinet containing three $1,000 bonds from the Ira Lou Spring Post, American Legion.

Lt. Richard Ream said the detective bureau is seeking the two suspects who were interrupted about 1:15 a.m. Monday while attempting to break into the Moose Club. He said Detectives Jerome Thompson and Fritz Rosenburg were making a check of the area and came upon two male subjects at the rear of the club house. The suspects fled on foot at the approach of the police.

Ream said an outer door had been forced open and burglar tools found by an inside door opening into the club rooms. He said the inner door had not been opened.

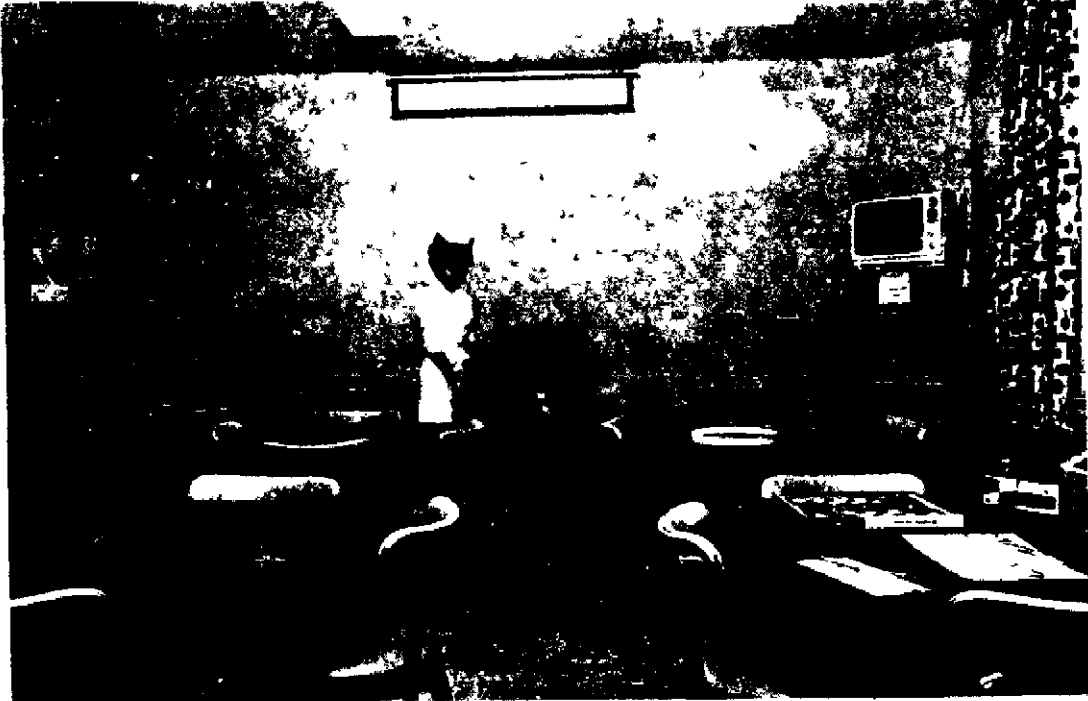

Detectives also are checking a break-in at the Ira Lou Spring Post. The burglary occurred between 12:30 and 8 a.m. last Saturday, Lt. Ream said. Entry here was made by forcing open a door leading to the basement.

An upstairs office at the Legion was ransacked and $20 cash taken from a desk. A small metal cabinet containing three $1,000 U.S. Treasury notes was taken from the building and has not been found.

Two Links of Super Highway Are Opened

Pennsylvanians get a New Year's present this week with the opening of nearly 19 miles of superhighway, including the "Crossroads of the West" in Mercer County.

Barricades came down Wednesday at 11 a.m., near Grove City when Governor-elect Raymond P. Shafer officiated at the opening of links of Interstate 79 and 80. The opening of these two important sections provide a "77" of 37 miles of four-lane, 65 miles per hour highway on Interstate 80 from near the Ohio State Line to Emlenton in Venango County, and 32 miles from the "crossroads" south to Zelienople, Butler County on Interstate 79.

Erie County Has Restraint Facility For Mentally Ill

The mentally-ill in Erie County are restrained prior to commitment at Warren State Hospital in the proper atmosphere to ease their suffering with nursing care and medication provided. Views of the facility were taken at Hamot Hospital. Sanctuary for the families of those with emotional problems have no need to seek law enforcement officials' help with their loved ones—no thought of even a brief time in a jail cell. Such is not the case in Warren County where no facility exists despite its proximity to the WSH. Only respite for the mentally ill is an emergency commitment after examination by one doctor. Town Crier

... By Les Rickey

The Sidewalk Philosopher and I were just passing away the afternoon in casual conversation that had little or nothing to do with much of anything when another of my favorite community characters strolled around the corner. It was the Panicky Politician and he had rather a harried look about him.

I knew right away that it was going to be an interesting afternoon because when these two get together, there's no telling what's going to happen. This time was no exception. The Philosopher started it off right away by sailing into the Politician on the latest county courthouse fracas, the salary raise in some department or another.

Well, the Politician started to make his views known about the whole matter, but I never did find out if he was for it or against it because the Philosopher stopped him cold in the middle of a sentence.

"I'm not worried about the salary increase," the Philosopher said. "What I am worried about is the way it was done."

"What do you mean?" the Politician asked, and I could see right now that he'd been had but good. He never should have asked that question.

"Well," the Philosopher began, obviously relishing the opportunity. "It's a little silly to air your dirty linen in public, for one thing, because it just confuses people and does nothing for whatever it is that you're trying to prove."

"On top of that, it seems to me that I was taught about majority decisions as the democratic way of doing things. I was looking through the dictionary the other day and I came across the word reactionary. The first thing I thought of was you."

Well, the Politician got a little purple at that point and the Philosopher grinned. I could see that it was going to be a long session and there wasn't much point to my sticking around any more.

But it did prove something that I've long believed: philosophy and politics don't mix well. I'm glad that I don't practice much of either.

PLAYERS OF THE YEAR, and winners of the coveted A. J. (Mooney) Scallie Trophies, Mrs. M. A. Kornreich and Dr. R. W. Israel, were named at the weekly Duplicate Bridge Game at the Marconi Club on Monday night. Runners up for the honors, in a very close finish, were Mrs. Eric Wilkinson and Robert Sokoliski. The announcement of the award winners is always the highlight of the year for the players — The cups are awarded annually to the man and woman who have scored the greatest number of 1st and 2nd places in the weekly games throughout the year. All area Bridge players are invited to attend the games which are held at the club every Monday night at 7:45. The game next Monday, January 9th, will be the Monthly Master Point Game. On the lighter side, but certainly not to be omitted, is mention of the well-earned plaudits received by Mrs. George Sarvis and Mrs. Eric Wilkinson for so successfully heading the annual holiday party which took place the week before.

HOME FOR THE HOLIDAYS were the two sons of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Greenlund of 16 Russell street, Mark and his wife, Suzanne, came bearing the good news that he had made the Dean's List at Rochester Institute of Technology, where he is a Senior in Art. In November he presented an Art Show in company with Professor Osmond Guy. Then from Severn, Maryland, came the David Greenlunds with their lovely little daughter, Jennifer Ann. David is in the field of Guidance and Counseling for the Maryland public school system. Both young families have returned now to their respective studies and work.

THE 88TH BIRTHDAY of Mrs. Emma Anderson of North Warren was observed with a party attended by a warm circle of relatives and friends on New Year's Eve at the home of her nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kell of 111 Russell street, Warren. The Elmer Kells of Pittsburgh were here for the special occasion, returning to their home the next day.

MINIATURES: The monthly meeting of the Board of Directors of the Family Service and Children's Aid Society takes place on Tuesday, January 10th, in the offices of the Society at 1 o'clock. Also, the next regular meeting of the Social Science Section of the Warren Academy of Sciences meets on Saturday evening at 8 o'clock in the Woman's Club. Harold Hampson will read a paper on "Social Science, 1895-1965". The Lady Gray Rebekahs of Warren will meet for a tureen dinner on Friday night at 6 o'clock, with the regular business meeting at 8 o'clock.

Ann Landers
Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was 84 on October 3rd. I have 13 living children, eight daughters and five sons, all married. They have blessed me with 39 grandchildren. No devils, no angels, just grandchildren.

We had a large home and it was reasonably harmonious most of the time, but with 13 children you can guess we had a variety of folks passing through. At times there were heated arguments about religion. Our children went with Mormons, Jews, Catholics, Jehovah's Witnesses, Buddhists and others. (Some married into these faiths.) One day when an argument about religion was in full swing, I took the group out to the front porch. I asked them to look at the wall just inside the door. "What is on the wall?" they asked.

"Hooks," I replied.

"We don't see any hooks," they said.

"They are invisible," I explained. "And they are there for a purpose. Everyone who walks into this house must hang his religion on a hook when he enters, and take it with him when he leaves."

There hasn't been an argument about religion in our house since that day. And the folks present must have passed the word to others because those hooks have been in constant use ever since. — DAD M., OF SEATTLE

DEAR DAD: What a perfect solution to a thorny problem! I'll bet that on this very day thousands of invisible hooks are going up in 675 cities!

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I liked your answer to the mother who was having trouble with her middle child. She felt she should treat all her children alike to avoid favoritism. You told her that each child should be dealt with according to his needs.

My psychology teacher believed as you do, and I will always remember the example she used. Here it is:

A certain mother thought she was being fair to her children by treating them all alike. One day she gave each of her three children exactly the same sized piece of chocolate cake — to avoid "favoritism."

The oldest child didn't care very much for sweets, but he ate the chocolate cake and said it was O.K. The second child was crazy about chocolate cake and asked for more — but his mother refused, saying, "No you all get the same." The third child hated chocolate cake and left his piece on the plate untouched.

If that mother had been wise she would have recognized the special needs of her children and dealt with them accordingly instead of treating them all alike. Please print this letter if you think it has merit. — GOOD MEMORY

DEAR GOOD MEMORY: Love and affection, like chocolate cake, should be given not only to children but to adults according to the individual's special needs. Some people crave more tender, loving care than others. They wither without it. It is well worth the additional effort to make these insecure people feel loved and wanted.

Confidential to Glad I Did It: You must brush your teeth with gun powder, the way you shoot your mouth off. There can be no justification for what you said and I trust you won't be surprised if you never hear from her again.

Is alcoholism a disease? How can the alcoholic be treated? Is there a cure? Read the booklet "Alcoholism — Hope and Help," by Ann Landers. Enclose 35 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

MARGARET HUNTINGTON
Betrothal Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Huntington of RD 2, Tidioute, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Margaret Ellen, to James C. Burrows, son of Mrs. Mary Thomas of Titusville, and the late Robert C. Burrows.

The bride-elect is a 1964 graduate of Clarion State College and attended the University of Pittsburgh and Edinboro State College. She is employed as an elementary teacher in the Youngstown, Ohio, public school system. Her fiancé attended The Pennsylvania State University for two years, and Oil City Business School. He is employed at Queen Cutlery and will continue his education at Youngstown University in the near future.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Appointment

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Dr. Elmer L. Seveinghaus of Brookfield Center, Conn. has been elected president of the United Church Board for World Ministries, overseas agency of the United Church of Christ.

Dr. Seveinghaus succeeds the Rev. Dr. William C. Nelson, pastor of Trinity United Church of Christ, Akron, Ohio, who served as president of the missionary board for five years.

Nelson-Moll Wedding Held In Jamestown

Miss Cheryl Kay Nelson became the bride of Theodore John Moll on Monday, December 26, in a 7 o'clock evening service in the Stillwater EUB Church, Jamestown, New York. The Rev. Dr. Ray Harris of the Kidder EUB Church read the double ring wedding rites in the presence of the immediate families.

Music for the candlelight service was provided at the organ by Miss Margaret Brodine. Decorations of Christmas greens, poinsettias, and seven-branched candelabra with bouquets of holly attached, ornamented the altar. Aisle candelabra were used entwined with ropings of evergreen and clusters of holly.

Escorted on the arm of her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of imported white brocade styled with empire bodice, long fitted sleeves and an A-line skirt. The empire waistline was defined with a band of pearl embroidery. Over the gown was worn a full length cloak of imported brocade that extended into a chapel train. Her silk illusion veil was attached to a pillbox of imported brocade and she carried a cascade of white Tiara roses, frosted holly and feathered carnations.

A reception in the church parlors, attended by one hundred guests, immediately followed the ceremony. The master and mistress of ceremonies were Mr. and Mrs. Roger E. Nelson, and aides were Mrs. Jack Magnuson, Mrs. Danile Hagberg, Mrs. Stephen Stokes, Miss Linda Nordine, with Debra Nelson managing the guest book.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Moll left for a wedding trip through the Adirondack Mountains and Canada. They will reside in Miami, Florida.

Pre-School Group Learns Principles Involved In Setting Up 'Head Start

Harold Guthrie, past director of the local "Head Start" program, was the guest speaker at the meeting on Tuesday evening of the Pre-School Guidance Group.

Gathering at the home of Mrs. John Erickson, 14 Russell street, the members heard Mr. Guthrie enumerate the general goals of the federal program, and the mechanics involved in the setting up of such a center, one of which is to determine those of the four to five-year-old youngsters who qualify for the program and would have the permission of parents to enroll.

Among other requirements, a staff, comprised of teachers, aides, dietitians, nurses, physician, dentist and volunteers, was needed to carry out the program successfully. Mr. Guthrie said that he felt that much had been learned in the first of the local efforts, which will assist in future summer programs. A question and answer period followed his talk.

Mrs. Richard Case of Russell, was introduced as a new member in the group. Refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Erickson, who was aided by Mrs. Richard Lawson, Mrs. Horace Hagg and Mrs. Nick Petchel.

MR. AND MRS. FRANCIS THOMPSON

Silver Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Thompson of Sugar Grove were honored on the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary at a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Thompson. The affair was given by their children, Thomas, Dennis, Wendy and Mark.

Mrs. Thompson was favored with a pink rose corsage. Decorations included a two tier wedding cake which centered the buffet table. Aides were Miss Jan Thompson and Mrs. Russell Thompson.

Cable Hollow Watch Night Service

Tonight and tomorrow night the Presbyterian Churches of the Northern Area will participate in the World Week of Prayer. The services will be held on both nights in the Sugar Grove Presbyterian Church at 8 o'clock.

New Year's Baby

A Warren County couple's baby boy became Titusville's New Year's baby. Dennis Michael Kuberry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Kuberry, of RD 1, Grand Valley, was born at 1:41 p.m. Monday, Jan. 2, 1967. He weighed in at seven pounds, six ounces, and with his parents will receive more than $300 worth of prizes. Dennis has two sisters—Tina, 1½ and Vicki, 3.

The Rev. Donald Williams will be the speaker, and tonight there will be special music by the church choir.

Tomorrow night after the service, there will be a sociable coffee hour sponsored by the Women's Association of the church, with Mrs. Russell Fargren, president, in charge.

Combustible Dolls

Three Warren County persons played it safe and turned over several imported dolls that are highly combustible. Two of the dolls, which have been banned in several eastern states, were brought to the borough police station and one to the state police station.

Household Hints

When children wear the same, or nearly the same, size socks, buy one child all solid colors, the other patterns or stripes. Makes sorting easier.

Run a dampened sponge mop over the rug or carpet to pick up dog hairs, sewing threads or lint.

A suspicion of ginger and mace adds interesting flavor to shortbread cookies.

Churches Merge

OLEAN—Merger of the congregations of the First and Peoples Methodist Churches into the Christ United Methodist Church of Olean became a reality this week as officers were elected at the merged church's first corporate meeting.

If onions are refrigerated until completely cold, they slice, dice, cut or grate without tears.

Regular washing soda is one of the safest, most effective and economical water softeners. Try it.

Give meat loaf a party look by baking it in a ring mold. Before serving, fill the center with potatoes, rice, noodles or vegetables.

DEAR HELOISE:

This is a good way to keep hot water bottles warm longer.

Just wrap a long piece of aluminum foil around the hot water bottle itself.

To make it more comfortable, wrap a light towel around the foil.

The foil helps keep the heat in!

Miss Betsy Ross

DEAR HELOISE:

When you are out of cupcake papers, cut 4" x 4" pieces of aluminum foil. Shape them around the bottom of a small glass about 2" in diameter.

This will make perfect little liners for your cupcake pan.

Mrs. A. Kiefer

DEAR HELOISE:

A fine work-saving tip I've discovered is to put newspapers over the counter when frying chicken or other foods. Sure saves cleaning up splatters.

Mrs. R. A. Stone

DEAR HELOISE:

Your column is a must for me!

I have small rooms, limited storage space, an uncovered sewing machine which fascinates little ones, etc., etc.

So, what to do?

I had some drapes I wasn't using, so I made a sewing machine cover, covering only the top, front and two ends leaving the back open.

On the inside of the cover, I attached pockets of all sizes and shapes to hold sewing needs (bias tape, lace, elastic, buttons, thread, scissors, etc.) everything necessary to make sewing a pleasure.

When the cover is off, I place it (wrong side out) over the open board on the end of the machine, so that the pockets are accessible.

When the cover is back on the machine, all these pockets full of goodies are on the inside, and out of sight of prying little fingers.

When the machine is not in use, the cover protects it from dust.

Catherine Ryan

DEAR HELOISE:

I have noticed that when my precious linen hankies begin to wear, the break is almost always along the crease that has been ironed in repeatedly.

Now I vary the folds—anything except the usual half and quarter arrangement.

They last much longer than before.

Emma

Thursday's TV Highlights

JERICO team, at 7:30 p.m. on WBEN, WSEE and WFBG, in Belgium to obtain a highly secret list of resistance leaders, finds its mission in jeopardy when the courier bringing the list to them is captured by the Gestapo.

LAOS: THE FORGOTTEN WAR, at 7:30 p.m. on WGR, WJAC and WICU, is the second of three NBC News specials in a series titled "The Battle for Asia." The program documents the ground and air war in Laos and the life of the Mao guerillas who do the bulk of the fighting.

STAR TREK at 8:30 p.m. on WGR, WJAC and WICU offers "The Galileo Seven." The severely damaged shuttlecraft from the USS Enterprise threatens to become a tomb for its trapped crew after it crashes on a planet and loses contact with its mother ship.

BEWITCHED at 9 p.m. on WKBW presents "Sam in the Moon." Samantha's innocently casual remark that she used to visit the moon regularly causes husband Darrin grave concern.

CBS THURSDAY NIGHT MOVIE at 9 p.m. on WBEN, WSEE and WFBG screens "Summer and Smoke," starring Laurence Harvey and Geraldine Page in the movie adaptation of the Tennessee Williams novel. The story is a touching study of the frustrated love between the repressed daughter of a small-town minister

Buy 265 Acre Tract For Park

FRANKLIN—The Western Pennsylvania Conservancy has purchased a 265-acre tract of land in Cherrytree and Oil Creek Townships to be used as the nucleus for the proposed 8,400-acre Oil Creek Gorge State Park.

The conservancy, a non-profit corporation with its headquarters at 204 Fifth Ave., Pittsburgh, purchased the property for $50,000 from Mildred R. Merry, formerly Mildred R. Paul, of Linesville R.D. 1. The property is known as the former Miller farm and is located along Oil Creek in the center of the proposed state park.

Charles F. Lewis, president of the conservancy, announced the property was purchased to preserve it from having the timber cut.

He explained that the conservancy will hold the property for the Commonwealth until such a time as all the red tape has been cleared for the project.

Several Injured in Crash at Erie

ERIE—Romelle Hackett, 11, of 2234 Eastern Ave., Westleyville, was seriously injured in a two-car crash which hospitalized her father, a passenger in a second car, and injured four others late Tuesday night.

Her father, Kenneth Hackett, 50, was listed in fair condition with multiple face, scalp and other lacerations. The daughter suffered head and internal injuries.

Herman Keys, 18, of 422 Wilson, was charged by city police with driving while under the influence of alcohol and underage drinking following the crash.

Erie-Lackawanna Shows Profits Under New Plan

CLEVELAND — "Operation Bootstraps" is beginning to pay off for the Erie-Lackawanna Railroad. A dramatic turnaround has taken place in the road's earnings picture as a result of a program of self-help.

In the last 3½ years over $52 million has been invested in new freight cars and diesel locomotives in addition to which service has been improved and expenses have been closely controlled. The extensive capital expenditures program has provided more and better freight cars for shippers to use which brings in more revenue, and the 90 new diesels acquired have not only improved on-time performance and dependability of service but with their higher horsepower capacity have increased the pay-load in each freight train and have lowered maintenance and operating costs at the same time.

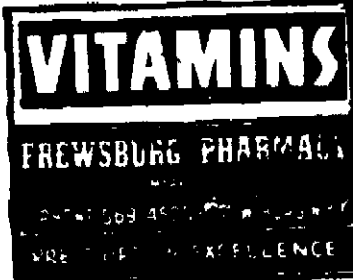

Final year-end figures will not be available until the last week in January but the management anticipates earnings will be $5 million.

Row Over Highway Post in Clarion

CLARION—A row has developed over the post of superintendent of highways of Clarion County with Bruce Bouch, present superintendent, announcing that he does not intend to voluntarily retire from the job.

Charles Leach, chairman of the Clarion County Republican Committee, is reported to have asked him to retire December 28th. He is said to have signified his intention of quitting the post, only to reconsider and announce an intention of remaining in the highway position. Leach was surprised at the new announcement from Bouch, whose retirement was considered advisable for the best interests of the party.
